

'Wonderful Summer' for Margie

Now Keep Them Practising

Classes Are Over—1,221 Learned to Swim

By MARGIE NAYSMITH
(Colonist Swim Instructor)

Yesterday we held our last lesson in The Colonist's free swim class series until next summer rolls around, and we are proud to report the presence of 1,221 new swimmers in local waters.

Of a total enrollment of 1,261 youngsters in the eight-to-14 age group in Victoria and Duncan, only 40 were unable to secure one of the two classes of swimming certificates which we issue.

No less than 560 of our youngsters received the top certificate for being able to swim 40 feet free-style and 40 feet backstroke. Another 661 got certificates attesting to their ability to swim 25 feet free-style.

Of the 40 who took home attendance certificates for having learned only the breathing and stroking motions without being able to sustain themselves on the surface, I am sure all will qualify if they come back next year.

Believe it or not, I have had a wonderful summer. I am not at all relieved that the classes are over and I know my assistants (they have done a wonderful job this year) feel the same way. Working with children, especially in anything so important to their survival as swimming, brings to the individual far more than he or she can give.

We have all had a truly happy summer and a satisfying one—satisfying because we know that through the sponsorship of The Colonist we have done something important—something that will live for a long time in the day-to-day, year-to-year lives of the boys and girls we have been dealing with.

At the risk of seeming repetitious, I want to ask the parents of this year's crop of swimmers to please see that the youngsters get lots of opportunities to practise swimming in the months ahead. Much of the ability which my assistants and I have been able to impart to the kids will vanish if it is allowed to simply lie fallow until next summer rolls around.

In closing my series of columns for the year I want to thank some of the people and organizations who helped make the classes operate smoothly—my instructors for their unselfish contribution of time and experience—Vancouver Island Coach Lines for their co-operation in transporting the youngsters to Elk Lake and for the courtesy of their drivers—officials of Queen Margaret's School at Duncan for the use of the swimming pool—the B.C. Electric for lending us the logs for our safety boom at Elk Lake.

Toll May Hit 40 In Mexican Quake

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A rumbling earthquake rocked parts of Mexico Wednesday, causing widespread damage and casualties in the Gulf Coast area of the tropical Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Estimates of deaths range from seven to 40, with the number of injured around 100.

NO CRASH INCREASE AT 60 SPECIAL B.C. REPORT SHOWS

Boost in Speed Only 2.4 Miles

There is no indication of greater accident incidence in 60-mile-an-hour zones and the increase in speed of the average driver is small.

The Daily Colonist learned last night that this is the summation of a report by a special committee on 60 miles an hour speed zones which will be presented to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi when he returns to Victoria Tuesday.

The report shows that in 60 miles an hour zones 9.3 per cent of drivers drive at 60 miles an hour or more and that in 50 zones some 42 per cent of the drivers drive at 50 miles an hour or more.

The report promises continued study to the location of all fatal accidents in B.C. and says a preliminary report indicates the increase in fatal accidents has occurred in all types of speed zones.

"Increased gasoline consumption (plus a greater number of cars of low fuel consumption) indicates more vehicle miles travelled and a greater exposure to accident," the report states.

The report, which is based on concealed radar recordings at the first three test sections established as 60 zones in B.C., shows "the average increase in speed of the faster 50 per cent of drivers was 2.4 miles an hour when the speed limit was raised from 50 miles an hour to 60 miles an hour."

Accident rate in the three zones was down to 20, from 23, over the same three months in 1958, but there was one fatality where there were no fatalities on those sections last year during April, May and June which was the test period for last year and this year.

Public Outcry Heard

Members of the special 60 zone committee met Tuesday following a public outcry against the new 60 zones, which critics say are responsible for the mounting death rate on B.C. highways which is now soaring to a new record with 196 recorded so far this year—36 above the same period last year.

Committee members are RCMP Assistant Commissioner Lemieux, RCMP Superintendent Carl Ledoux, Harry Duker of the B.C. Automobile Association, senior B.C. traffic engineer J. H. Harding and deputy highways minister H. T. Miard.

The three test sections included the Canadian Highway between Parksville and Little Qualicum Falls Park; the Trans-Canada Highway in the Sumas Flats section; and the Trans-Canada Highway, Cache Creek to west of Kamloops.

Special statistics were recorded in these sections during April, May and June of 1958 when they were still 50 miles an hour zones.

Speed limits were increased to 60 miles an hour on April 1 of this year and concealed, recording-type radar machines were placed at the areas.

The partial test—there are a score more 60 zones now in operation on B.C. highways—showed:

1. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 42 per cent of drivers drove at speeds of 50 miles an hour and more.
2. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 33 per cent of drivers drove at 50 miles an hour and more.
3. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average, eight per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.
4. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 9.3 per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.

"Tests to date therefore indicate only a slight increase in speed by the average driver," the report reads.

In 1958 on the Parksville to Little Qualicum Falls Park section there were four accidents while the 50 zone was in effect in April, May and June, but during 1959 in the same months and while the section was a 60 zone there were only two accidents, both property damage. In 1958 three of the accidents involved only

Elaborate Sign System Warns Driver of Lethal Malahat Curve

Elaborate warning system to cut deaths on Malahat Highway's Tunnel Hill starts with this new sign erected by Highways Department crew yesterday on approach to turn where a Victoria woman was killed, Sunday. Sign terminates a 60-mile zone.

This sign, which has been a Malahat fixture for some months, will stay up as secondary warning to southbound motorists approaching the fatal left curve in an area where three traffic fatalities have taken place in the same area this year.

Third warning of 'approaching left hand curve is this rarely-used luminous broad-arrow located at point where turn commences. Multi-sign warning installation is in area not under study in current probes into 60-zone effects.

Assuming you have missed first three warnings there may still be time to press the "panic button" and avoid collision with rock outcropping ahead when these three luminous "delineator posts" start to flash by. — (Colonist photos.)

U.S. Accuses Communists Of Abetting Force in Laos

India-China Pact 'Dead and Buried'

NEW DELHI (AP)—A leading Indian newspaper chain said Wednesday that Communist China has declared a cold war against India which is forcing this country to forget about non-alignment.

The Indian Express, published in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras, said China's policies since the Tibetan revolt last March have frightened her neighbors and alienated her friends.

The result, the Indian Express said is an "agonizing reappraisal" which is bringing Indian foreign policy more closely in line with that of the Western nations.

The article said the Indian-Communist Chinese treaty of co-existence of 1954 is "dead—buried five fathoms deep."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Wednesday met Laos' urgent appeal for more aid and accused the Communist world of abetting the use of force against the tiny southeast Asian kingdom. The exact amount of new aid was not disclosed.

The state department also announced that a session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization will be held here in late September.

While the Laos crisis may be discussed at this session, press officer Lincoln White said that as far as he knew the question of sending of troops by the United States or SEATO to Laos has not arisen.

Mainland Price War In Gasoline

VANCOUVER (CP)—President J. O. Betts of the Automotive Retailers' Association says oil companies plan a gasoline price war on the Lower Mainland. Some dealers are already selling regular gasoline for as low as 35.9 cents a gallon.

Polio Serum Rationed

MONTREAL (CP)—City health officials took action Wednesday to ration supplies of anti-polio vaccine as the number of polio cases rose to 500.

Bluebottle Led Start to Finish

The royal Dragon-class racing yacht Bluebottle, owned by the Queen and Prince Philip, last night won its first race in Vancouver Island waters.

Here for a series of seven races with Pacific coast Dragons, she sailed in 30-mile-an-hour winds frequently gusting to 40, over a 10-mile course from Cadboro Bay to Jimmy Chicken Island and back.

Hundreds of spectators watched as Bluebottle established an early lead and never lost it.

On the first lap of the course, the royal yacht broke a jib sheet block and lost a few lengths while carrying out repairs, but she was never seriously challenged.

Skippered by Surgeon-Lieut. Ross Coles, Bluebottle's crew consisted of Victorians Roy

Murdock and Lyle Russell. Mr. Russell put his knee out of joint early in the second lap, but managed to perform his duties throughout the remainder of the race.

Bluebottle will be on public view today in the Inner Harbor, and will return to Cadboro Bay Friday night for races Saturday and Sunday.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE old houses in the Cotswolds are made of native grey stone. I saw them from the train window on a cloudy morning, and they looked as if they had taken root and sprung up naturally from the green slopes, like the trees.

Why can't southern Vancouver Island, among other regions, use the rock that lies underfoot, to build its houses? Stone houses would have a natural look among the granite hills and twisted oaks of Victoria.

A fellow-traveller in my railway carriage was a woman who had lived near Kew when Baird, the British inventor of television, had been carrying out the experiments that produced the magic screen.

This girl's father had also dabbled in electronics. One of his projects was building a walkie-talkie set with which he talked back and forth to his house from some distance away. But his radio clogged the airwaves and interfered with Baird's work, and the inventor of television forced his neighbor to silence the walkie-talkie.

"Perhaps your father put television back a year or two," I suggested. The other two occupants of the carriage, both elderly ladies, made remarks to the effect that the world would not have suffered greatly by such a delay.

These three friendly and talkative ladies did not fit the rule of English silence on trains—a rule with many exceptions.

I spent a day in Cheltenham, the inland spa that grew famous after George III visited it and drank its mineral waters in 1788.

In the early years of the 19th century Cheltenham sprang to life as a fashionable resort. Distinguished architects of the Regent's time planned a town that was all of one piece.

Most of the Regency town remains, although less handsome buildings have been tacked to the edges of it, and numbers of the houses, with their pillars and iron work and their clean, graceful fronts, have been occupied by offices and shops.

In knowledge of architecture I am close to being illiterate, but the buildings of Cheltenham gave me a feeling of space and dignity as I walked down the broad promenade.

I admired the buildings before I read the book. I believe architecture is one of the arts that should appeal to the ignorant as well as to the learned.

Most towns are a hodge-podge of conflicting styles. When able men have the courage to design a whole town whose buildings are in harmony, the result can be glorious. I don't think it happens often. The most successful example must be the Heavenly City, which was designed by one Architect. Comparatively few of us (we have been warned) will be able to go there and judge for ourselves.

In recent times Cheltenham Spa has made a name as a centre of sport (racing, cricket) and the arts. Noted festivals of music, painting and literature are held here. For people who habitually think in clichés, Cheltenham is a fusty and stagnant town dominated by retired people, just as Victoria is said to be. But the inhabitants seemed to walk with a brisk step, and I saw two or three couples at night sitting on benches near the fountain, on the promenade, with arms around each other.

Were they octogenarians who had forgotten their age? Or sexagenarians?

Another thing Cheltenham has in common with Victoria is a reputation as a garden city. One out of every 10 acres of the town is occupied by public parks and public gardens. How does Victoria's percentage compare with this?

In Cheltenham's Town hall I saw a Modern Home Show, where such gadgets as vegetable slicers and refrigerators were displayed. I had gone in the Town Hall hoping to taste Cheltenham water. But the spa, with its curiously ornate urns, had been deserted by the attendant. No doubt he was down the corridor watching the fashion show just as I did.

I don't blame him. The girls were pretty enough that I found it worth while to stand on tip-toe and crane my neck to see them, for a few minutes. I don't remember what they were wearing. I probably didn't notice.

Some distance from that place, I wandered through the spacious halls and cloisters of Cheltenham College, where my father went to school.

I thought for a moment that I heard his voice in my ear, telling one of the stories of his school-days, as he did long ago. Then I lost it. I wished that I had been able to go back and report to him what I had seen.

That evening I drank a beer by myself in a public house, without speaking to anyone. I climbed some stairs to my bed on the top floor of an old hotel, and took refuge in a novel.

Murder Trial Told:

Flashy Car Theft Led to Arrest

STETTLE, Alta. (CP)—Robert Raymond Cook's haste to obtain a flashy white convertible led to his being arrested and charged with the murder of his father.

Court was told Wednesday of events leading to his being held by RCMP on a false pretences charge and of the subsequent discovery of the bodies of his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cook, and their five children, ranging in age from three to nine.

Court heard testimony Wednesday from Edmonton automobile salesman Len Amoroso who said Cook and another man went to his office on June 26. Cook said he wanted to trade a 1958 station wagon, registered to Mr. Cook, in on a flashy white 1959 convertible.

He said he left Cook for a few minutes to check some papers and when he returned Cook and the white convertible—were gone.

Outside Work for Judges

Is Too Much Time Spent Off Bench?

China Admits Stumble In Great Leap

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China slashed its 1959 production goals Wednesday and said its forecasts of record-breaking output from farms and factories last year were based on false statistics.

Production figures on China's "great leap forward" in agriculture and industry in 1958 erred seriously on the high side, the Communist party central committee disclosed in a broadcast report.

As a result of these errors, plus damage this year from floods and drought, targets for coal, steel, grain, cotton and other industrial and agricultural items "are to be adjusted accordingly."

FUTURE POWER?

The Republic of Brazil comprises an area of 3,289,440 square miles with a population of 60,000,000.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Federal and provincial justice departments are trying to find out if Canadian judges spend too much time off the bench doing other jobs.

Sources said possible curtailment of judges' activities on various boards and commissions might be in prospect when the two levels of government complete their study.

The extrajudicial work by judges was tied in with a general study of judges' salaries.

It was suggested that the dominion-provincial talks were aimed at agreement on outlining just what duties, outside of their straight judicial work, judges can take on.

Some judges were reported to be spending most of their time on various conciliation boards and commissions. Others were said to be so busy on the bench they couldn't accept any such appointments.

Federal Justice Minister Davie Fulton told the House of Commons last June the government wanted to clear up "this disturbing disparity."

The question of judges serving on conciliation boards was one of the major subjects involved in the discussions.

Fulton called this kind of work "quasi-judicial" and said it was "extremely undesirable and a contradiction in principle."

There was the possibility that through making an arbitration decision the judges "would become involved in political controversy," he added.

Time To Retire

LONDON (UPI)—Two hundred youths and girls in scanty nightwear paraded through London's West End last night after a pyjama party "to end all pyjama parties."

The parade followed a shindig at a Soho Club led by socialite Mark Sykes and "man-about-town" Lord Valentine Thynne, 22-year-old son of the Marquess of Bath.

Chased by police the marchers "buried" a coffin "at sea" in the Thames.

Family Didn't Like Flowers, Police Didn't Like Mourners

LONDON (CP)—Johnny Copley's old pals didn't forget him Tuesday, the day of his funeral.

Most of London's top gangsters turned out for the event. They gave their former underworld friend a sendoff to remember.

They seemed willing to overlook the fact that Johnny spent the last few years of his life going straight. Instead, they paid tribute to the way he handled getaway cars in his heyday, before he served eight years in jail.

Johnny (Scarface) Carter came along to the funeral with a group of pals and three wreaths. Harry the Horse and Freddy the Fly were there, too. And so was Old Boie.

Scarface told reporters at the graveside that Johnny was "one of the best—he handled a car like a woman, softly and firmly."

Johnny died last week when his new £6,000 car smashed into a wall and burst into flames.

Two of the floral arrangements delivered to Johnny's grave were in the form of expensive cars. Another was shaped like a pool table.

There also was a roulette wheel of roses and a block of flowers shaped like dice.

Johnny's family didn't think much of the floral displays. They burned them immediately after the service.

The police didn't think much of some of the mourners. They are looking for five who went from the funeral to a pub and beat up a bartender.

Jail Riot Leader Cries On Hearing Sentence

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—A prisoner cried in court Wednesday and three others voiced their terror of Guelph Reformatory guards when the ringleaders of three days of rioting at the institution received additional prison sentences.

The riots started last Wednesday in the reformatory tailor shop. The next day the revolt gathered impetus and there was another riot in the tailor shop during which prison superintendent George Sanderson was threatened by a prisoner wielding 10-inch shears.

Friday saw the most serious riot which started in the breakfast room and spread to the exercise yard when some 40 men stormed a door injuring two guards.

Paul Waters, 21, of Niagara Falls drew a five-year penitentiary sentence for menacing Sanderson. He broke down and wept.

James Stewart Pinell, 19, of Toronto, who triggered the Friday revolt by heaving a salt shaker at a guard, pleaded in vain to be sent to penitentiary because, "we've already been threatened by the guards at the reformatory."

The magistrate ordered him, William George Bull, 21, of Wallaceburg, Ont., and John Henry Brady of Windsor, Ont., to return to the reformatory to serve two years less a day each.

Marvin Sharpe, 18, of Belleville, Ont., and Gary Edward Corey, 18, of Hastings, Ont., received four-year penitentiary terms.

'Fabulous' Claim Unknown in Files

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—An air force sergeant who befriended a crippled widow is heir to an Alaskan mining claim he says may be worth $40,000,000.

Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett, 28, returned to nearby Castle Air Force Base after restaking the Cinnabar (Mercury) claim and reported Tuesday that geologists estimate its worth that high. He did not identify the geologists.

The claim was left to Howlett by Mrs. James Dinsmore, widow of a prospector who lived in a house trailer near the Howlett home and for whom Howlett did favors.

However, the Alaska department of natural resources said it has no record of the mining claim.

Visions of the Northwest

BY coincidence perhaps — though again perhaps not altogether — Alaska Governor William Egan's prediction of eventual development of communications, industry and world trade by the joint efforts of the new state and Canada's northwest corner was made at the same convention as the one at which Prime Minister Diefenbaker spoke of prospects for the creation of a gigantic power grid reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is customary at such meetings (in this case the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of B.C. and Alaska, held at Kitimat) for political leaders to indulge in visionary glimpses of the future and occasionally somewhat extravagant prophecies.

In this instance, however, the prime minister of Canada and the governor of Alaska were speaking not so much of a new and revolutionary international approach to development as of an extension of what has already begun. In the matter of communications, for example, there is an international highway in the Alaska route connecting British Columbia, Alaska and the tip of the Yukon. There is, in the west at least, the nucleus of a power grid system which makes possible an exchange of electric power produced on both sides of the border. But for political boundaries there could be in the far northwest a vastly greater exploitation of natural resources and trade possibilities.

In the new statehood of Alaska Gov. Egan sees the key to the elimination of present barriers to economic progress. There are mutual needs as well as opportunities, the latter impeded by such things as the geographical absurdity of the Alaska Panhandle. Alaska needs the electric power which would be produced from sources located in B.C. British Columbia and the Yukon, and behind them the industrial and agricultural regions of the rest of Canada, need ocean outlets through the Panhandle for the expansion of trade westward. Alaska, isolated from the other 48 mainland states, needs better land connections.

From the views expressed by Mr. Diefenbaker and Gov. Egan on differing but allied proposals, it appears that when the stage of formal negotiation is reached it will be in an area of agreement that such things are possible — as Premier Bennett of British Columbia has long proclaimed them to be. The granting of statehood to Alaska has cleared the picture to some extent, transferring discussion of mutual problems of province and state from the remote capital of the U.S. to the new capital of Alaska. Thoughts expressed at Kitimat may for the moment be visionary, but there is less reason than hitherto to treat them as impracticable.

Auditorium Takes Precedence

PROPOSALS for construction of an open-air concert bowl somewhere on the outskirts of Victoria, now being studied by directors of the Symphony Society, contain the germ of what could be a valuable addition to the inadequate amenities of the district.

Outdoor entertainment whether musical or theatrical is extremely popular in many of the cities of North America, including some whose climate compares with that of the south end of Vancouver Island. Reasonably dependable weather is essential, and while Victoria's may let the public down sometimes even in mid-summer, the success of the symphony concerts in the Butchart Gardens augurs well for wider ventures. The season would have time limitations, but much of universal appeal could be compressed into it if suitable facilities were there. The right location should not be hard to find, and costs of construction would be relatively small.

This proposal must of course be viewed separately from that of a civic auditorium and must never be thought of as an alternative. It could be fatal to efforts to obtain an auditorium and convention centre if the thought ever were allowed to prevail that a concert bowl would do instead. There is need for both, but vigorous pursuit of the auditorium project must take precedence until it can be made a reality. Desirable as an open-air bowl obviously is, the paramount need is for a building usable in all weathers and the year around, and it would be a bad thing if this second admirable proposal should inadvertently divert any of the support which should be reserved for the first.

Another Good Year

HAVING completed their tests the youngsters enjoying the Colonist swimming classes at Elk Lake and at Duncan said goodbye yesterday to their guardian and chief instructor, Mrs. Marge Naysmith, and her associates. They have had a profitable and happy eight weeks, good fun and exercise being mixed with the serious side of learning to swim.

This has been a specially good summer for this annual Colonist project. The weather has co-operated in splendid fashion, making of the course a joyous outing for all the youngsters who took part. Over 1,000 children enrolled in Victoria and about 190 at Duncan. This means that for many homes fears will be allayed when the children go playing near water or at the sea shore. Not all the neophytes made the same progress, but well over 500 of them left proudly with a swimmer's certificate. They are able now to go on their own and improve their skill with practice; the fundamentals have been well absorbed and they can swim, even if only a limited distance. Upwards of 600 others passed the beginners' test, and they will be aiming for an improved rating next summer.

Less than half a hundred didn't quite make the grade but they have got used to the water, lost the fear of it, and will be back next year. It is only a matter of time until they too can swim.

One feature of these annual classes is that many youngsters return for more tuition, a circumstance that pleases this newspaper. This is its favorite promotion, for nothing is more desirable in a sea-girt city than that the children should be able to take care of themselves in water. That is the sole object of the Colonist classes, which are not to turn out champions but to put the saving grace of swimming within reach of all youngsters of this area.

Red China and Atom Bombs

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON — High allied diplomats see behind Russia's stepped-up pressure for a nuclear test ban Moscow's growing anxiety to keep Red China out of the exclusive nuclear club.

There is good reason to believe that the Kremlin, despite its close alignment with the Peiping regime, has no desire to have China equipped with the atom bomb.

Red China, pushing determinedly for world power status, is already giving Moscow more of a headache than Soviet leaders care to admit.

A nuclear test ban, until recently under negotiation in Geneva between the Soviet, the United States and Britain, would not automatically bind other nations.

But, once such an accord were completed, it would in practice close the nuclear club.

Since no new power would thus be able to test atomic weapons without encountering strong opposition from world public opinion, no country could acquire them in future through its own efforts.

China would remain permanently dependent for the use of nuclear weapons on Russia's good will, which is what the Kremlin appears to be aiming at.

Red China wants the atom bomb. A year ago, Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi said in a press interview that Peiping intended to have the bomb.

Earlier this year, Ho Chi Minh, the president of Communist North Viet Nam, proclaimed seemingly out of the blue that the Chinese will have atom bombs "in the not distant future."

Significantly, none of the references to atom weapons production has mentioned Russia's assistance. Western intelligence believes that, apart from the supply by the Soviet of atomic reactors, the Chinese have been left to their own devices in this crucial field.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE other day I was musing about strength and a few moments ago a chap I know came into my office and flexed his right arm and muttered "och."

It sounded like that, anyway. Obviously his arm was aching.

He was a hefty chap, too, twice my beef and apparently as strong as the Hercules you see on movie screens. So I was a bit surprised. He wouldn't be easy to put under the weather.

And all that was the matter, actually, was that he had been painting his fence or fixing his garage door, or something, and an unused muscle was complaining.

I could have said I had an aching muscle too after doing some garden chores but I refrained. He wouldn't expect me to be a Samson.

It is rather pitiful, however, the way we men let ourselves run to seed, physically and mentally.

The body is a rare thing, capable of amazing resilience and strength. On the radio recently I heard someone say that lacrosse players could run all night. They give you that impression, certainly, even if when they return to the bench they are peeling like anything.

But they represent vigorous youth.

It is what comes after that counts; when one's playing days are over. There was a time when yours truly himself could have run all night at his favorite game, but alas, ten yards are enough now.

And not at 60 miles per hour, a rate of movement currently under discussion, albeit concerning a different form of locomotion.

Yet all any of us need to do, I suppose, is to take a bit of exercise and flex our muscles regularly. Not to become a Hercules but to stay fit. Do we do it? No, we are all too lazy.

The same goes for the mind, as I sort of indicated the other day and there's no harm in repeating it. We don't dip into it enough; we let it lie fallow or don't reach down to tap its latent resources. And yet the mind is the greatest instrument man ever knew or used.

It has nuclear fission beaten to a frazzle. Or it would have if we put it really to practice.

For instance we go around looking without seeing, all because noting and thinking is too hard work, and work is the most unpopular word in the modern lexicon.

There is a memory course which I believe recommends that after a walk one should mentally retrace one's steps and jot down everything noticed in passing. It isn't easy to score a hundred yet a little training would make it child's play.

This is a trivial illustration but it emphasizes the point. And the point is man's indifference to his own general well-being, physical and mental.

Much of the wide field of knowledge open to us could be ours did we train our brains to work hard. Few physical jobs would be too strenuous did we keep our muscles in shape.

The brain is like our muscles, has indeed its own muscles, and they go soft equally with a lazy bicep. Why do some men shine so we call them geniuses? Often enough simply because they push their talents to the limit, at a desk or in the gymnasium.

But the rest of us? Droopy drones, that's all.

Disgusting, actually, and that includes me too.

Reports From Ottawa

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker, it now appears, prefers Quebec ministers who are not too closely associated with Premier Duplessis.

In the past he couldn't afford to be so choosy. Cabinet ministers Comtois, Courtemanche, O'Hurley and Balcer are all Duplessis, although a cut above most of the Tory MPs elected by the Duplessis machine.

But last week Diefenbaker was faced with a choice between two men to fulfill his election promise to add a French-Canadian minister to represent eastern Quebec. He could appoint Noel Dorion, possessor of a savagely brilliant legal mind and a man who, as chief Quebec crown prosecutor in both Duplessis administrations, was an intimate political bedfellow of the premier. Or he could name Lt.-Col. Pierre Sevigny, the one-legged veteran of the Second World War who has been deputy speaker of the Commons, and a man who is not identified with Duplessis' Union Nationale.

He chose Sevigny. While Sevigny has a Quebec City background, for all his current personal and political domicile in the Montreal area, he is not a lower St. Lawrence man like Dorion. This fact forced Diefenbaker to admit that the appointment is not a fulfillment of the 1958 promise. But it was a case either of postponing action on the promise, or accepting as his chief French-Canadian lieutenant a man who is perhaps Duplessis' main pipeline into Ottawa, and expecting that pipeline into the deliberations of the cabinet.

If Dorion had got the nod, he would have been Quebec's number one man in the cabinet by sheer strength of personality. And he would not be an easy man for the PM to handle. For example, he understands English perfectly, speaks it rather less so, but insists on speaking French in Commons committee meetings although nine-tenths of the committee members don't understand that tongue.

Not altogether a reasonable man, you might conclude.

And if Diefenbaker appointed Dorion he'd be stuck with him, as long as he valued Duplessis' support at election time.

On the other hand, Sevigny is a much safer bet. He may or may not develop into the strong French-Canadian lieutenant that any English-speaking prime minister needs. That is for the future to tell. But he is young (42) and ambitious. He has more on the ball than the Quebec quads — Comtois, Courtemanche, O'Hurley and Balcer. Give him a dozen years and he may be a Tory Dandurand or Lapointe.

The story I like about Pierre Sevigny is of an incident that occurred in the 1949 election campaign, when he ran as an Independent Conservative candidate in the Magdalen Islands.

His opponent was Charlie Cannon, a young, easy-going Quebec City Liberal who is taken by many persons to be a Briton, what with his British accent and English looks. Sevigny and Cannon are cousins by marriage, a relationship which is still of some significance in Quebec.

They were stumping the islands independently when chance brought them to the same town on the same day, and to the single hotel at the same time. There was only one room vacant. It contained one double bed.

To the rational French mind the solution was obvious: they would share the room and bed. And they did.

Charlie Cannon went on to win the election, and to represent the Magdalen Islands until the 1958 Tory swing turned him out. Last year, after two failures, Sevigny made it, entering the Commons as his erstwhile bedfellow was leaving.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THERE is a hearty type of person that includes women as well as men who sincerely flatter themselves that they are rendering a true service to their relatives and friends by supplying energy to their relatives and friends lack. For instance, when anybody is feeling low, these cheerful bustling souls make it their business to come bursting in, full of vigor, bonhomie and birdseed, crying "Come on, darling, up you get! Don't mope all day. Let's go downtown for lunch."

Whenever a group of perfectly happy people are lounging around a cottage verandah, beautifully content to be doing nothing and without any plans whatever, as sure as shooting one of these dynamic and vibrant souls comes bounding onto the stage, passionate with program, and rejoicing at the opportunity of invigorating not one but maybe half a dozen limp idlers.

It was a pleasure therefore to overhear a neighbor trying to escape from a picnic. To his wharf came the motorboat of a real dynamo, determined to take the other on a picnic.

"As a matter of fact," said the invitee, "I don't feel too good today. I... uh..."

"Aw, come on," whooped the invitor. "It's just what you need. It'll do you no end of good. Come on, get cracking!"

"Look old man," said the invitee, "frankly, I just don't want to go." That's the best way to deal with them.

Washington Angle

Blight of Urbanism

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THIS is the time of year when vacationers begin to take a last, long, loving look at the line of the surf and the generous expanse of sun and sand. They know that all too soon jobs, the city, the old routine will catch them up again.

The vanishing American seashore, source of pleasure, strength, relaxation for millions of Americans, is currently the subject of a drive in Congress. Conservationist senators are pushing measures to save the last remnants of natural shoreline. They are opposed by a powerful lobby of industrial and speculative interests.

The argument of the conservationists is that with America's exploding population there will soon be no shoreline left that preserves the natural beauty and the sense of solitude and lonely grandeur that were part of America's heritage. Unless national parks are created of what remains it will all go into overcrowded beach developments intensively exploited or for industrial uses.

The argument of the opposition is simple—the right of private developers to go where they like and do what they please. That, too, is part of the American heritage, a privilege going back as far as the privilege to seek solitude and commune with nature: the right of a Thoreau to be alone on Walden pond.

But with an ever-more crowded America the conservationists are pressing to save a small part of the past so that later generations will have a glimpse of what the earlier America was like. Because it is threatened by imminent industrial development the most urgent pressure is on to save the Indiana dunes.

The 25-mile expanse of dunesland on Lake Michigan between the industrial centre of Gary and Michigan City has steadily disappeared as industry, with smoking chimneys and mill towns, has spread. Today approximately three and a half miles remain, which Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois is trying to save as a national park.

He has, however, a powerful opponent in the Bethlehem Steel Corporation which has acquired much of the land for a projected $350,000,000 plant development. With it goes an industrial harbor and related housing developments. Bethlehem acquired the property from a company set up by Clint W. Murchison, one of the Texas billionaires whose speculation in land reaches into every corner of America.

Important political interests are also involved. While he fought the St. Lawrence Seaway, which has opened the Michigan lake shore to steel development, former senator William Jenner of Indiana is now cashing in on it with a company to promote the harbor development. The entire Indiana delegation favors the project.

A Senate interior sub-committee failed to approve the Douglas bill. But it is believed that nevertheless the full committee may report it out favorably.

With the bipartisan support of Senator Richard Neuberger, Democrat of Oregon, and Senator Gordon Allott, Republican of Colorado, a second bill would give the secretary of the interior authority to select three shoreline sites to become national parks. If this should pass, the sites selected are likely to be the Indiana dunes, a stretch of untouched shoreline on Cape Cod in Massachusetts and the dunes area and Sea Lion Caves in Oregon. These, with a fourth site, Padre Island, Texas, have been approved by the National Park Service advisory board.

Reported to have administration backing, this measure would cost an estimated $15,000,000. Still a third bill with 18 sponsoring senators, including such veteran conservationists as Clinton Anderson of New Mexico and James E. Murray of Montana, takes in additional sites, and the cost would be $85,000,000.

Should all of these measures get caught in the jam now promising to develop, with major legislation held up until the end of the session, they would carry over to next session. This is the hope of their sponsors who insist that even if work is started on the steel plant for the Indiana dunes site it will not be too late to take the land by right of eminent domain and preserve it for the use of the public.

Powerful as are the interests seeking to block any of these measures, there are impressive forces on the other side. Out of the great impetus that Theodore Roosevelt gave to the conservation movement, scores of organizations have continued to carry on the fight to stop the spreading blight of urbanism and industrialism that has left only a small remnant of the unspoiled beauty of what was once an almost empty continent.

Letters to the Editor

Poor Example

Regarding death rate on our highways, it seems to me that Mr. Gagliardi as minister of highways could well put the spotlight on himself for the poor example he has set by making light of his several infringements of traffic laws. The minister being a "speed demon" himself, how can we expect a tight speed control on the highways? Why is not 50 miles per hour fast enough on our tortuous B.C. roads? It is certainly fast enough for safety.

Prince Charles' Tuition

I am afraid that Walter G. York in his recent letter to the Colonist missed the point entirely. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, in appointing a French-Canadian officer to give Prince Charles French lessons during his summer holidays, undoubtedly did so as a kind gesture to Canada and not with any thought of the Prince of Wales would pick up permanently the very bad French accent of French-Canada.

Neither would Her Majesty wish the Prince to learn to speak English with a Canadian accent, otherwise she would send him to school in Canada. Fortunately, he is being sent to school at Eton where he will learn to speak correct English and not very bad American that one hears over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Timely Warning

This is the story of a tragedy that didn't happen thanks to a Victoria police officer doing his job.

Last week I was stopped by the policeman for exceeding the speed limit in a 30 mph zone. It hadn't been overly excessive, but admittedly an infraction of a sensible law designed for my safety and that of others. He asked for my driver's licence. It was clear. He gave me a firm, but polite, warning.

I carried on. Less than five minutes later I had to come to a sudden stop to avoid crashing into the side of a car being backed too quickly from a driveway. Had I been travelling an additional ten miles an hour there undoubtedly would have been tragedy—and sorrow. My wife and three young sons were in the car with me.

That policeman's warning—fresh in my mind—quite possibly prevented injury—maybe even death.

I intend keeping that warning fresh in my thoughts. Such warnings—even court appearances and fines for speeding—should be accepted by all drivers as a reminder that speed zones have been established for the safety of all—and that "caution and care will get you there."

U.S. Puts Color TV On Block in Moscow

Video tapes of the Nixon-Khrushchev exchange were flown to this country and shown on network television during the vice-president's Russian tour.

In the combined goodwill gesture and bid for increased U.S.-Soviet trade, Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller made the $220,000 closed-circuit TV available for on-the-spot purchase by the Soviets.

It includes cameras, cables, consoles, monitors, film projectors and viewing screens.

Mueller also made available about 1,800 other American-made items to Soviet buyers, including nearly 1,000 that normally would require export licences before they could be sold in Russia.

A source at Radio Corporation of America said Russia had basic black and white television, but no color TV and no video tape.

Mueller said the U.S. offer was "both a sincere gesture of goodwill to the Soviet people and a definite opportunity for the Soviet Union and the United States to do business."

Khrushchev Warns Bonn:

East-West War 'German Suicide'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev has told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a sharp letter that any East-West war would "be tantamount to suicide and the destruction of West Germany."

Portions of the letter, sent Aug. 19, were quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass, coinciding with President Eisenhower's arrival in Bonn, West Germany.

"It may be that we are on the eve of a historic turn in the policy of the two blocs—from further isolation to gradual rapprochement and adjustment of the outstanding issues to ensure peaceful co-existence of all states," Khrushchev wrote the 83-year-old German chancellor.

Khrushchev wrote Adenauer that although Russia and West Germany have differences, "no sane-thinking man could think that they could be overcome by way of war."

The Soviet premier warned Adenauer that not even the combined military might of the West could equal the power of the Soviet bloc.

Tass said the Russian premier did not make this claim "for the purpose of intimidation," however.

"We both have seen too many horrors to resort to this," Khrushchev told Adenauer.

Police Horse Ill Advised On Protocol

BONN (UPI)—A German police horse committed an almost unthinkable breach of protocol right in front of the entrance to the temporary White House minutes before President Eisenhower was due to arrive.

Confusion among security people, both German and American, was compounded when a photographer spied it and turned his spotlight on it.

German 'I Like Ike' Welcome Moves Eisenhower to Tears

Thousands Cheer Former Conqueror

BONN, Germany (UPI)—President Eisenhower, who led the allied armies that crushed Germany 14 years ago, returned here yesterday to begin a nuclear age crusade for "peace with honor and justice."

The president pledged in an airport statement that the United States would support the people of West Germany and West Berlin in their determination to remain free.

West German chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, in a welcoming statement, hailed Eisenhower as "the flag-bearer of freedom in the whole world."

The U.S. president was moved to tears as tens of thousands of cheering Germans roared a welcome along the 10-mile route to the U.S. embassy, including cries in English of "I like Ike."

His 10-day tour—taking him to West Germany, Britain and France—represented the most extensive, personal diplomatic venture by an American president overseas since President Wilson toured Europe on behalf of the League of Nations after the First World War.

Adenauer and his entire cabinet were on hand to greet the president at the airport. Thousands in the welcoming throng were refugees from

U.S. Opinions Conflict

Has Russia Lost Man in Space?

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—American scientists yesterday strongly discounted a theory Russia has fired and lost a man in space.

Speculation that Russia beat the United States in putting the world's first astronaut into space, but is unable to bring him back, rose from an interview with Dr. Henry L. Richter, Jr., chief of the national aeronautics and space administration's instruments section.

The Dallas Times Herald said the space expert could not understand why the American press had not made news of Russia firing a man into space.

"We conclude that Russia has unsuccessfully fired a man into space from reading routine news items in Izvestia, the Russian newspaper," the paper quoted Richter as saying.

Several of Richter's colleagues at NASA headquarters in Washington said, however, they knew of no reason to believe Russia had tried to put a man in space, or was on the verge of doing so.

The Times Herald said Richter noticed items in the Russian paper that currently mention six Russian astronauts, and the Soviets formerly said they had seven. This led him to believe, the paper said, that the Russians have put one of the astronauts into space and are unable to bring him back.

400 Seamen Join Bigger Union

Brotherhood Whipping Coast's SIU

OTTAWA (CP)—Hard-boiled Hal Banks' Seafarers' International Union has been taking a whipping on Canada's west coast.

Informants returning to the capital from British Columbia said that the normally peaceful Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers has been clobbering the brass-knuckle brigade of the Banks union.

The Brotherhood, according to these informants, has picked up about 400 seagoing members the Seafarers were looking for.

It could mean that the SIU, recently outlawed from the main stream of Canadian labor by being thrown out of the Canadian Labor Congress, is finished on the B.C. coast.

This is part of a muscle-flexing contest going on between the two hefty unions in the East and the West.

The two powerful unions—the Brotherhood has about 40,000 members and the SIU some 12,000—started tangling when the Seafarers began picking on the little Marine Engineers' Union with some 1,500 people.

Reds Running B.C. Labor SIU Charges

VANCOUVER (CP)—Norm Cunningham, West Coast leader of the Seafarers' International Union, said Wednesday Communists are taking over the B.C. labor movement.

Cunningham, whose union was expelled this year by the Canadian Labor Congress for raiding, said in an interview: "Communists now are pulling the strings behind the 100,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor."

A Vancouver local of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers is controlled by Communists.

CBRT attacks on the SIU result from the SIU's refusal to support a political party alliance.

The press has fallen for the Communist "line" and is prejudiced in its reporting of waterfront union struggles.

Pacific Fleet to Mass For Island Exercise

The largest peacetime fleet exercise of the Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Command will take place in the Barkley Sound and Comox areas between Sept. 14 and 25.

Nineteen ships of the command, including four naval auxiliary vessels, plus RCN and RCAF aircraft, will take part in the operation. Together, the ships will carry approximately 2,300 officers and men.

They will leave Esquimalt Sept. 14 and proceed to the Barkley Sound area, arriving there that afternoon. After a day and night there, the fleet will move to the Comox area, where they will be exercising for a week, commencing Sept. 18.

In overall command of the exercises will be Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, Flag Officer Pacific Coast. Capt. J. C. Pratt, commanding officer of the destroyer-escort HMCS Assiniboine, and commander of the Second Canadian Mine-sweeping Squadron.

Taking part will be six destroyer-escorts, HMC ships

Policeman's Death Sequel

Wanted

Held in Florida for possible extradition is ex-Venezuelan dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez. Venezuela has charged the 45-year-old exile with murder and embezzlement. Free after posting $25,000 bond, Jimenez yesterday described charges as "absolutely false."

A two-hour trial ended yesterday in conviction of a city man on a careless driving charge, arising from an accident in which a city traffic policeman was killed July 12.

Const. Earle Doyle, 29, suffered fatal head injuries when his motorcycle struck a car driven by Edward G. Whitehouse, 4025 Saanich, on Douglas near Francis.

Before fining Mr. Whitehouse $40, Magistrate William Ostler said:

"The result of this accident was very tragic. A young police officer lost his life—a fact which we all, including the accused, regret deeply."

"My only concern here, however, is the nature and quality of the driving involved, not its results."

Magistrate Ostler noted evidence of cautious driving by the accused. There was no indication of speed, or of recklessness.

The crash occurred about 120 feet from the nearest intersection, when accused made a left turn in front of cars which had stopped in the centre lane of Douglas, to enter a service station.

The officer was in the lane toward the curb, on the right of the stopped cars, and was not seen by accused except as a blur almost at the second of impact.

Magistrate Ostler pointed out that this is a busy highway where traffic should be expected in any lane.

"If you had taken the nose of your car into that second lane, stopped, and looked, this tragedy would not have happened. This is not an intersection, so other traffic is not expected to turn."

The magistrate cited Section 139 of the Motor Vehicle Act which includes a complete prohibition against driving over a solid double line (as was the case with accused's car), no matter what the custom might be.

Russell Arthur Osland, 19, of 833 Admirals, pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to a charge of theft over the value of $50. He was remanded to next Monday for a probation report and sentence.

Det. Deans Blackstock of city police told court accused went to the Armed Services Centre, 1315 Broad, on Aug. 22, where he forced open a locker and removed clothing and a suitcase.

These he checked at the centre's office under the name of Grant.

When he returned Tuesday and produced the claim check he was detained until arrival of police.

The stolen articles, property of Arthur Bostrom, were valued at about $200.

Also in city court Russell Edgar Thomlinson, 833 Admirals, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place.

In Colwood police court yesterday William Falconer of Metehosin was given a one day suspended sentence and assessed $5.50 in court costs, on a charge of selling raw milk without having a permit.

Councillors to Tour Possible Hall Sites

Saanich councillors will tour four possible sites for a new municipal hall Tuesday night. Arrangements for the tour were completed at last night's meeting of the council's lands and planning committee. Reeve George Chatterton and councillors will meet at the present municipal yard site, on Douglas at Trans-Canada Highway, at 6 p.m.

A meeting of the committee will be held after the tour. Location of the four sites and their sizes are secret until the council has chosen and carried out negotiations for the purchase of the land.

During the tour, members of the council will also inspect the yard site and an area of land one block to the north. Both areas are being sought by conflicting companies for development as shopping centres.

Speed Boost Backed

Victoria Automobile Club yesterday went on record as approving 60 miles-an-hour speed limits on some British Columbia Highways.

The move came as a controversy raged over whether or not the recent increase in speed limits from the former mark of 50 miles an hour is responsible for a sudden increase in the mortality rate in automobile accidents in the province.

But the automobile club has not extended unqualified approval of the actual application of the new maximum speed.

In a letter to Highway Minister Gagliardi yesterday the club's president R. B. Wilson said "We hope there are many stretches straight and not dangerous roads on which a 60-mile limit could justifiably be established, although there might possibly be some sections where the 60-mile signs are placed which might be lifted."

An automobile club official said the referendum modification of certain existing 60 zones probably piles to the Malahat.

To the highway minister, Mr. Wilson added "We do feel that you are right in your efforts to prove zones which will please the general motoring public."

Speed Limit

Boost Seen In Ontario

TORONTO (P)—The Ontario government may raise speed limits to 55 and 60 miles an hour on a number of the province's two-lane highways, it was reported yesterday.

The highway department has recommended the increase in the speed limit by five or 10 miles an hour following an intensive survey conducted during the last seven months on 6,000 miles of two-lane highways.

The report is already being forwarded to the transport department which will submit it to the cabinet for approval by order-in-council.

No More Crashes At 60 MPH

property damage and the other also involved an injury. In the Surrey area there were eight accidents in 1958, four involving injuries and four involving property damage. This year in the same area there were 23 accidents, 10 of them involving injuries and 13 involving property damage and four involving only property damage. In the Karloos section in 1958 there were 11 accidents, five involving injuries and six involving only property damage. This year there were nine accidents, three involving injuries and six involving only property damage.

The summary shows for the three months in 1959 some 23 accidents, 10 of them involving injuries and 13 involving property damage and for his year 20 accidents with seven involving injuries, one fatality and 12 involving property damage. With the information received to date, there is definitely no trend of an increase in accidents in the test zones," the report reads.

But it states that study will be given to the location of all fatal accidents in British Columbia. A preliminary study of the reports of RCMP detachments where increases occurred this year indicates the increase in fatal accidents occurred in all types of speed zones.

There are now 22 maximum 60-miles-an-hour speed zones in B.C. On Vancouver Island they are located roughly as follows:

Island Highway: from north of Goldstream to Mill Bay, from Mill Bay to Duncan, from Duncan to Ladysmith, from Ladysmith to Nanaimo, from Nanaimo to Parksville, from Parksville to Qualicum Beach, and on Patricia Bay Highway from Keating Crossroad to Sidney.

You Rang, Sir?

At the bell foundry in Karlsruhe, West Germany, eight brand-new bells are mounted on a stand for test ringing. They will be used in Munich for celebration of Eighth Evangelical Church Day, and will later be installed at the Memorial Church in Speyer. Among this group is the largest bell cast in West Germany since Second World War, the "Martin Luther," which weighs more than eight tons.

Legion To Honor McAdam

Legionnaires from all parts of Vancouver Island and the Mainland will gather in Nanaimo on Sept. 19 to honor W. A. McAdam, former B.C. agent-general in the United Kingdom.

The Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, following a recommendation at the recent B.C. Legion convention in Prince George, will confer an honorary life membership on the man who for so many years was "Mr. B.C." in London. Mr. and Mrs. McAdam now live in retirement at Maple Bay.

Busloads of veterans will make the trip to Nanaimo from Victoria.

Moderate —Not Teetotal

HAMILTON (CP)—There is more scriptural support for moderation in drinking alcoholic beverages than for abstinence, a Lutheran chaplain said here Tuesday.

"Any abstinence that is based on alcohol as being 'evil,' that does not allow for moderation and results in judgment of all who do drink, is unwholesome and can't be reconciled with Scripture," declared Chaplain Gordon Grimm of the Willmar State Hospital for Alcoholics in Minnesota.

Speaking at the International Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies at McMaster University, Mr. Grimm said: "After giving objective consideration of the facts on beverage alcohol, drinking, alcoholism, moderation and abstinence incorporating the facts of science and truths of Scripture, then we must leave the individual free and responsible to make a decision."

A curtain of dense fog which shrouded Mt. McCreight 20 miles northwest of Campbell River yesterday repelled an RCAF ground party trying to find the wreckage of a mystery plane sighted several days ago by an air force corporal.

An RCAF spokesman in Vancouver said last night the ground party, which returned to Comox air base late yesterday, was scheduled to start a second attempt to locate the wreckage at 4.30 a.m. today.

COPTER JOINS IN

Two hours later, at first light, a Royal Canadian Navy helicopter was to take off from the Comox airport in a simultaneous bid to locate the wreck.

The RCAF official said the ground party was forced back from the mountain after a day and a night in the rugged terrain by fog "so thick the men could hardly see each other."

He said "with the fog the way it was the searchers could have walked right by the crash and never seen it. The poor visibility might have resulted in a bad fall," he added.

Sixteen Start Swim In Stormy Channel

CAP. GRIS NEZ, France (AP)—Sixteen swimmers waded into the chilly waters of the English Channel early today for the start of the annual cross channel race.

The weather, which had been ideal up until about an hour before the start, suddenly worsened and 22 entrants stayed behind on the wind swept beach.

A strong north wind whipped up waves and menacing clouds could be seen on the horizon.

A small armada of boats set out at the start of the race. Their lights could be seen dancing on the water as they pulled away from shore toward the white cliffs of Dover hidden in the darkness 22 miles away.

Greta Anderson, Danish-born housewife from Long Beach, Calif., was favored to win the race for the third consecutive year and retire the big silver trophy.

Earlier yesterday the RCAF said it appeared likely the crashed plane was a United States Navy anti-submarine bomber which vanished nine years ago and which was finally located with 11 skeletons on board a year later in the area now being searched.

The remains were removed, but the wreckage of the plane was left on the scene.

But the search will continue because a similar type of aircraft disappeared in the same general vicinity 11 years ago with nine persons on board. This plane has never been found.

PLAN FOILED

Fog which turned back the ground party yesterday also ended efforts to take two men to the scene and lower them from the navy helicopter.

The air force said earlier reports that 11 skeletons had been seen at the wreckage were incorrect and resulted from garbled transmission of a radio message from the ground party seeking information about the 1951 crash in which 11 were killed.

An officer at air-sea rescue centre in Vancouver said "it looks now as though the wreckage is that of a U.S. Navy Neptune that crashed in 1951."

RCMP Seize Still

REGINA (CP)—RCMP announced here Wednesday they have seized a large still near Sturgis, 225 miles northeast of here.

Officers seized a 45-gallon still, 50 gallons of mash, a half-ton truck and a car.

Arrested on charges of illegal possession of a still were Wasy Stefanowich, 73, and his sons, George and Alex. All three pleaded guilty and were fined.

New Elk Lake Float Presented by Rotarians

Sidney Rotary Club last night presented a new diving and swimming float at Hamsterley Park, Elk Lake, to Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks committee in a follow-up to Colonist swim classes.

Committee chairman Millard Mooney accepted the float from Sidney Rotary president Walter Hughes. Councillor Ainslie Worthington represented Saanich.

Chairman of the project Victor Dawson said last night the float took Rotary volunteers a month to build working two nights each week.

He said that one of the reasons for building the float was that the Colonist swim classes were held at Hamsterley Park and the Rotarians thought the children would keep swimming there after classes finished.

The float has a three-foot diving board and is designed for younger children.

Strike Damage Not Yet Serious Duncan Job Bureau Says

DUNCAN—The International Woodworkers of America strike "has not affected too seriously the district's economy as yet," says the National Employment Service monthly bulletin issued here yesterday.

It further states "it is expected that the situation will quickly deteriorate if a settlement is not reached soon." During the month applications for benefits increased from 647 to 825. An NES survey of businesses "shows August is regarded as a usually dull period, with this year no exception."

A few new commercial buildings and private homes are being built but "construction is slowly coming to a halt as available supplies of lumber become exhausted."

Sub Threat in Pacific

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The presence of 100 submarines believed to be Communist in the Pacific has resulted in creation of a staff job for a deputy naval commander to be concerned solely with anti-submarine defence measures.

Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, said the position would be filled by a vice-admiral whose job it will be to consider defences against attacks which could be launched by enemy submarines.

He said he believed 100 of the 400 submarines the Communists now have are operating in the Pacific. "A portion of these submarines are manned by the Chinese Communists," he said, "under the careful tutelage of the U.S.S.R."

The last fatality on city streets was in 1956. Since then, 1,095 fatality-free days have elapsed.

Prestige Booster in Strip Form

Cartoons 'Sell' Tories

LONDON (Reuters)—The Conservatives have put out a party magazine entirely in strip-cartoon form.

Pages give brief biographies in strip-cartoon form of government leaders.

Normandy invasion and playing golf.

Lord Hailsham, chairman of the Conservative Party, is depicted as an individualist.

Sites in Pakistan For U.S. Rockets?

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet army newspaper Red Star said: "Pakistani ruling circles have tried in every way to deny and conceal the fact of the construction of rocket-launching sites in such areas of west Pakistan as Quetta, Gilgit and Peshawar."

Fossils Found in Ontario Oldest Evidence of Life

MONTREAL (CP)—Fossils found in Ontario are the oldest evidence of life on earth, Dr. E. S. Barghorn, professor of botany at Harvard University, said yesterday.

The fossils, found in 1954 show a species of algae or fungi. They date back 1,700,000,000 years.

Nations Ponder 'Inch'

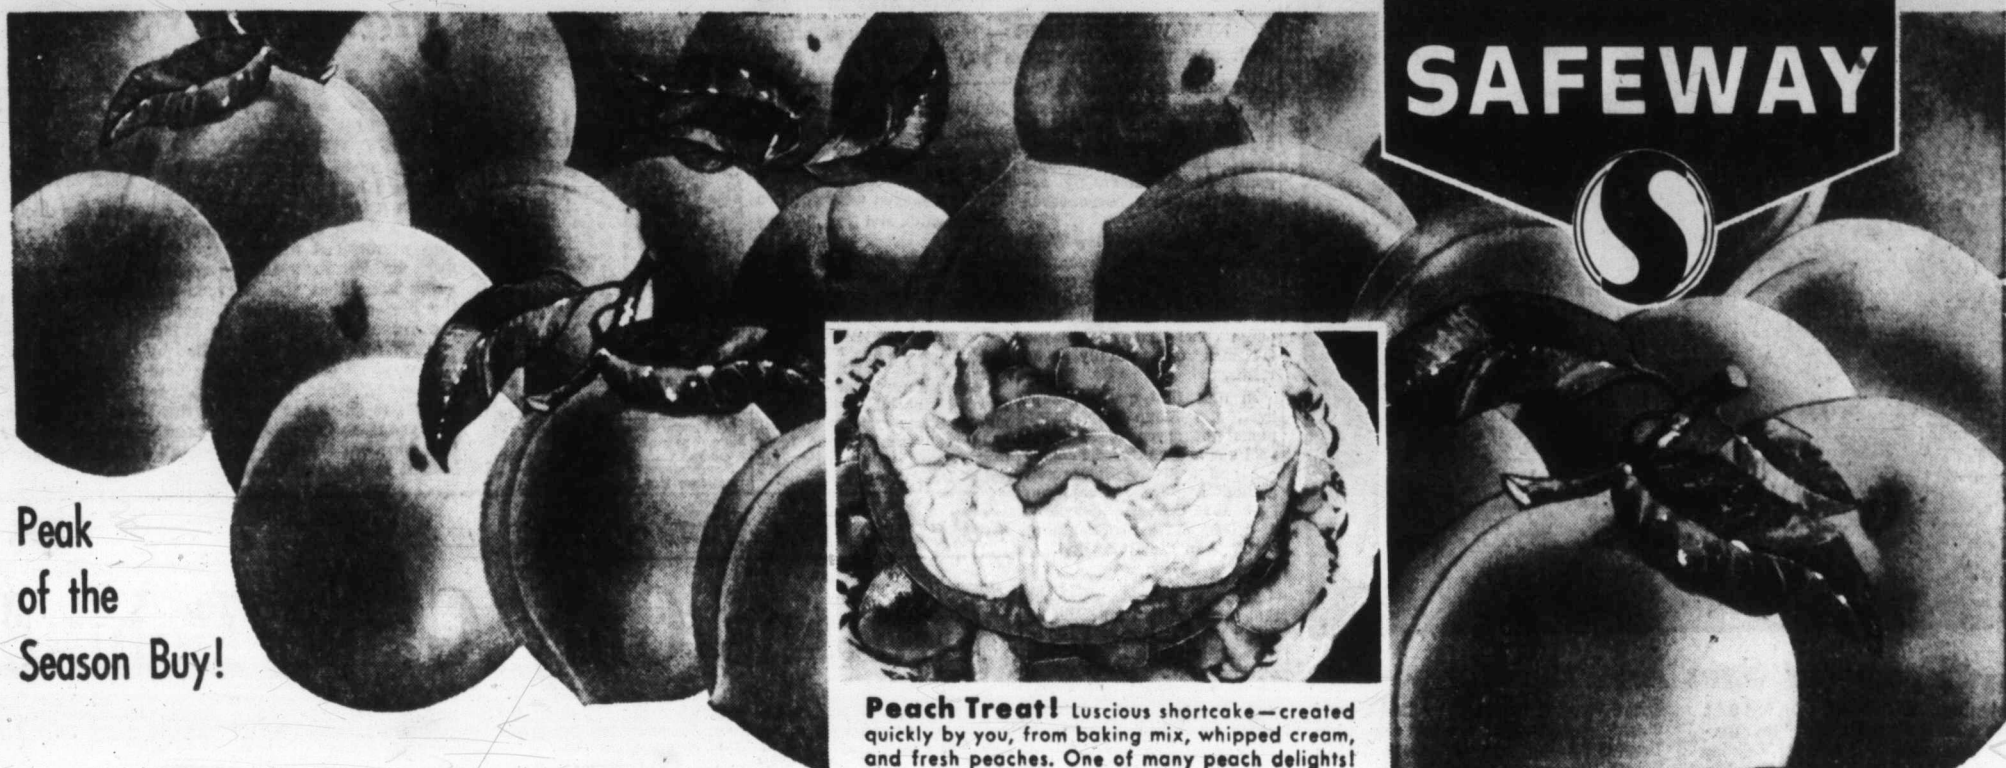

OTTAWA (UPI) — Representatives from seven Commonwealth countries sat down yesterday to co-ordinate their standards of quality and performance and lay the groundwork for use of either inch or metric measuring standards.

The fourth Commonwealth standards conference was opened by Trade and Commerce Minister Gordon Churchill. Its aims were to align, co-ordinate and simplify Commonwealth standards and study the problems of inch and metric dimension standards.

H. A. R. Binney of England, chairman of the conference, said the effort to unify standards in the Commonwealth was part of a wider movement to secure unification of standards in the world as a whole.

Promoter Sues Ex-Promoter

Bill Rosensohn Faces $5,000,000 Lawsuit

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fight promoter Vincent J. Vellela returned from Sweden Wednesday after signing the $3,000,000 Johansson-Patterson rematch and announced he planned to sue Bill Rosensohn for $5,000,000.

Vellela said his contemplated suit would be for "defamation of character" in connection with Rosensohn's statements that made him a "front man" for Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno, a missing mobster.

Vellela, new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., said Rosensohn had been telling untruths at District Attorney Frank Hogan's office and before the grand jury.

Vellela, dark-haired, medium-sized and dapper in a dark blue suit, told a press conference at international airport, "I am a front man for no one."

"I invested my own $25,000 in the Rosensohn organization and to my knowledge Salerno never had any money in the June fight promotion at all."

(Meanwhile, Gen. Melvin L. Krulwich, chairman of the New York boxing commission, announced that he was awaiting receipt of the grand jury minutes after which he would schedule a hearing on all charges and counter-charges made before that body.)

Vellela admitted he had known Salerno ever since he was a boy because both had been raised in the same neighborhood in east Harlem and he also had represented Salerno in a civil suit when Salerno was purchasing a home. Salerno needed money and Vellela arranged with a bank to get him credit for a down payment on the home.

Vellela also stressed that "to my knowledge" there was no gambling or underworld influence connected with the promotion of the June 26 fight in which Ingemar Johansson of Sweden took the world heavyweight title from Floyd Patterson.

Ingemar Johansson, who started the season with a big rush and then slipped back to chase the Chicago White Sox from second place, are riding their longest winning streak since 1956 and only one game out of the American League lead.

With Rocky Colavito providing the payoff hit, an eighth-inning, tie-breaking home run, the Indians ran their streak to eight games last night with a 5-4 squeeze over New York's bumbling Yankees.

Meanwhile, the White Sox did something they haven't been doing very often in what has been for them a cliff-hanging season—they lost a one-run decision, 6-7, to Boston Red Sox.

The Indians are two games out on the losing side, all even in victories with 30 games left for Chicago and 28 for Cleveland.

Elston Howard's hitting—a home run and double which accounted for three runs, gave the Yanks a tie in their half of the eighth as rookie Jim Perry rushed in to call a halt to the rally. Perry then got his 10th win when Colavito hit his 38th home run, tops in the major leagues this year.

It was his seventh circuit smash against the Yankees, his third in the last two nights.

LOOKED LIKE CINCH Early Wynn seemed headed for his 17th win when the White Sox started the seventh inning with a 2-1 bluff, but the Soxos climbed on him for four runs, added two more off relief star Turk Lown in the eighth.

Chicago rallied desperately for three runs in the eighth but Mike Fioresi, a former teammate, choked them off one run shy.

Baltimore, getting home runs from Bob Niekman, Brooks Robinson and Willie Tasby, and Detroit, getting 11-strikeout pitching from Jim Bunning, both won to shove the Yanks back into the second division.

Los Angeles Dodgers gained while idle yesterday with both the first-place San Francisco Giants and the third-place Milwaukee Braves losing.

The Giants lost a real tough one. Jack Sanford had a perfect game for six innings, started the ninth with a 4-0 lead. Then the Pirates came to life to tie the score, beat re-

Shamrocks Get Going-Over Losing Opener to O'Keefe's

By JIM TAYLOR
Colonist Staff Writer

NEW WESTMINSTER — If a two-week layoff left New Westminster O'Keefe's with any trace of rustiness you couldn't prove it today by Victoria Shamrocks.

O'Keefe's, the defending Canadian champions looked every bit the part here Wednesday night by trouncing Shamrocks, 12-7, in the opening game of the Inter-City Lacrosse League's best-of-seven final.

But, tough as the New Westminster club looked, Shamrocks fans need not concede the series yet. Except for the first 15 minutes the injury-hampered Islanders played O'Keefe's on virtually even terms.

In that first quarter, however, the Mann Cup champions got seven of 11 shots past goalkeeper George Johnston and held the Shamrocks without a score. No club can spot the O'Keefe's that kind of a lead and expect anything better than the Rocks got.

TWO MISSING

Actually, there is some doubt that last night's club could be called the Shamrocks. Missing were the club's two top scorers, 40-goal Jim McNeill, out with an attack of the flu, and 38-goal Bert Bertoia, whose two bad knees will likely keep him idle until at least the third game of the series, which will be here next Thursday night.

On to pot that, rookies Bob McKee and Jackie Showers were both playing under handicaps, McKee with a chest injury which hampers his running and Showers still not over his own bout with the flu bug.

With McNeill and Bertoia out, the Shamrocks' odd-man play was non-existent. In five chances with the extra man the Rocks not only failed to score but were scored against once. O'Keefe's, on the other hand, clicked three times when the Rocks had a man in the penalty box.

SOON OVER

It was all over in 15 minutes. Giving Johnston little protection, the Shamrocks soon dug themselves a hole too deep to crawl out of in the 35 minutes left after they got their first goal.

Billy Jobb broke in for a goal in the early seconds. Then it was Ivan Stewart, Harold Fox, Don Sepka twice, Cliff Sepka and Fox again as the home club slammed into a 7-0 lead.

Rudy Reisinger made it 8-0 in the second quarter before the Shamrocks got something going. Then they rallied for four goals in less than three minutes—Ed Kowalyk on a pass from Whitey Severson, Tom Druce on a floor-length rush and Stu Smith twice on fine individual plays.

LACKED POWER PLAY

But penalties and the lack of a power play stopped the Rocks there and they could never get closer. Jack Bionda got his two goals in the third quarter to boost O'Keefe's lead to 10-4, and all that was left from there was to play out the remaining time.

O'Keefe's were led by their top line of Bionda, Cliff Sepka and Stewart. Each scored twice, with Bionda and Sepka also adding two assists. Fox and Don Sepka, who played a standout game, also scored twice for the winners.

Then Dr. Milton Eisenhower will deliver a message from his brother, the President of the United States, and Mayor Richard Daley will give his official civic welcome and proclaim the games open.

First events will be held in 10 sports Friday, headed by track and field competition at night in Soldier Field.

The United States is favored to win a minimum of 11 of the 27 team sports, which comprise the program of the games, which will run through Sept. 7.

as play reached the quarter-finals Wednesday.

Munn, Victoria city junior titleholder, reached the eights with a 4 and 3 triumph over Gordin Robinson of Vancouver. Morgan, only two over par for the 12 holes he needed, ousted Carnes Loyd of Seattle, 6 and 5.

Defeat of Terry Campbell of Vancouver, Doug Reid of New Westminster plus Munn's victory over Robinson sliced the B.C. representation to two.

lief-pitcher Stu Miller in the 10th, 5-4, when Bill Mazeroski singled in Bob Skinner.

Curt Flood, hitting a home run and two singles, paced a 15-hit St. Louis attack which gave the Cardinals a 5-2 win over the Braves.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The right to meet New Westminster Royals in the Western Canada final... a three-man syndicate, headed by Roger L. Stevens of New York, Wednesday purchased Tanforan Race Track for $5,000,000.

Stevens, president of Continental Tobacco Co., and Henry Lewis III, president of Jupiter Oils, are associated with the New York real estate operator and theatrical producer.

B.C. LIONS, still doing everything possible to strengthen, have added two more import halfbacks—Wray Carlton, former Duke University star bought from Toronto Argos, and Corky Bridges, former Eastern Washington College player recently cut by Los Angeles Rams... the Argos have claimed Canadian-end Morgan Clarke on waivers.

GOING INTO THE QUARTER-FINALS, Mrs. Kliefelter came up with another surprise when she defeated Miss Gunderson, 2 and 1.

Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., the defending champion, reached the quarter-finals with victories over Mrs. Frank Stranahan and Harriet Gillville of Toledo.

Bobby Marlow, once one of the best fullbacks in Canadian football, was released yesterday when Saskatchewan Roughriders named their 12 imports.

Actually, naming their dozen was easy for the Riders. It was just a case of picking the healthiest 12 on a team riddled by injuries. In coach George Terle's opinion they were centre Neil Hapig, guards Jim Healey and Guss Goings, tackles Jim Marshall and Bob Colic, ends Vern Vaughn and Menan Schriever, quarterbacks Don Allard and Bob Brodhead, fullbacks Neil Worden and Bobby Mulgado and halfback Mike Hagler.

Only Hapig, Vaughn, Hagler and Mulgado were with the Riders last year.

Four other players, holdovers Jack Hill, Ken Carpenter and Galen Wahlmeier and rookie-back John Harris were kept in reserve.

Club officials stated that Marlow, bothered by a knee injury, will be back to try and regain his place next season.

MAVERICK, driven by Bill Stead, evened the battle for the Harmsworth Trophy Wednesday by defeating Canada's Miss Supertest III at Detroit in the second 45-mile heat.

Both boats broke the trophy speed record, Maverick being clocked at 102.988 miles per hour and the Canadian boat at 101.746 mph. The showdown heat is scheduled today.

Mann Cup Series Held in West Again

NEW WESTMINSTER (Special)—For the third year in a row, the Canadian senior lacrosse final will be played in the west.

In a surprise move which reversed the decision made a week ago, the Canadian Lacrosse Association announced after a meeting during Wednesday night's Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff game here that the Eastern champions will open the best-of-seven Mann Cup final at the home of the Western champions on Monday, Sept. 14.

"It was a decision reached by the CLA and the two western clubs involved (New Westminster and Victoria)," Tom Gordon, CLA secretary, said.

"The final has been in the West for the past two years and should have been played in the East this year but there simply wasn't a suitable place to hold it in Eastern Canada."

Doves and 'Hallelujah!' Open Pan-American Games

CHICAGO (UPI)—Colorful ceremonies marked by rattling guns and fluttering doves officially open the third Pan-American Games today by bring an end to pre-game bickering and fault-finding with the actual start of competition.

Nearly 2,300 athletes from 24 nations including Canada, will parade onto vast Soldier Field to the tune of a 24-gun salute, music by a U.S. Marine Corps band, and a massed chorus of over 1,000 voices, singing Handel's "Hallelujah!"

Argentina, the first of the 24 completing nations alphabetically, will lead the parade into the arena with former Olympic athletes of the United States escorting the procession. The host nation United States team, traditionally, with 305 members—by far the largest squad in the field—will enter at the end of the parade.

After the Invocation by the Rev. Albert G. Meyer, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Chicago, and the athletes have assembled in the centre of the arena, distinguished guests and officials of the Pan-American sports organization will be introduced.

Then Dr. Milton Eisenhower will deliver a message from his brother, the President of the United States, and Mayor Richard Daley will give his official civic welcome and proclaim the games open.

First events will be held in 10 sports Friday, headed by track and field competition at night in Soldier Field.

The United States is favored to win a minimum of 11 of the 27 team sports, which comprise the program of the games, which will run through Sept. 7.

Olmedo and Fraser Open in Davis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Peruvian Alex Olmedo, who almost singlehandedly wrested the Davis Cup from Australia last year, opens the United States' defence of the famed tennis trophy Friday at the West Side Tennis Club.

The phelmatie Wimbledon champion will meet Neale Fraser, Australia's experienced No. 1 performer, in the opening singles match.

The second match sends Barry Mackay, the giant cannonballer from Dayton, Ohio, against the new whiz of Australian tennis, lefthanded Rod Laver, runnecup to Olmedo at Wimbledon.

The doubles will be played Saturday, with Australia's Wimbledon and U.S. champions Fraser and Roy Emerson favored over the United States' Olmedo and 18-year-old Earl Buchholz, Jr., of St. Louis. In Sunday's final singles, Olmedo will play Laver and Mackay will meet Fraser in that order.

Dick Munn in Eights Of Northwest Meet

VANCOUVER—Two British Columbia golfers, Dick Munn of Victoria and John Morgan of Vancouver, remained in the running for the Pacific Northwest junior golf championship

as play reached the quarter-finals Wednesday.

Munn, Victoria city junior titleholder, reached the eights with a 4 and 3 triumph over Gordin Robinson of Vancouver. Morgan, only two over par for the 12 holes he needed, ousted Carnes Loyd of Seattle, 6 and 5.

Umps Get Tough

Officials of the Senior Amateur Baseball League have put some teeth into their rules protecting umpires.

League executive Wally Thompson last night said that umpires have been instructed to "crack down" on abuses that have been going on all season.

The new attitude may appear tonight at Royal Athletic Park where Wakeman-Trimbly and Eagles open the best-of-three semi-final series.

Second game will be played at the same park Friday night and if a third game is necessary, it will be played Saturday afternoon.

If no third game is necessary, Saturday's game will be the opening one of the final involving league pennant winning Pages. Tonight's game starts at 7.

Calgary Stampede Resemble Late-Season Argos

Ted Reave, Toronto sports columnist doing a special series for The Daily Colonist on the Canadian football season, recently is out west taking a look at the WFL.

By TED REAVE
CALGARY—What a large and lively quarter-back. The Cowboys have in Kapp. He throws the apple far and well.

And is a running chap. They could gallop to the finals. On this Prairie football map, if Joe don't end the Autumn in a tape and plaster wrap. —The Moaner.

Watching Calgary Stampede race to their 29-17 win over the no-longer reluctant Lions here Monday night, we had a view of a team in exciting action that recalled the Argonauts of last October when they whooped to three suddenly glorious mid-October victories with Ronald Knox. For here in Calgary they have a rangy raw-boned squad not yet quite in full stride but, at this time anyway, going with a lot of drive and team spirit. Joseph Kapp out of California at 6 ft. 2 inches and 205 pounds is at the moment (of robust health) the most promising quarterback to catch the eye since Sam Etchevery came so momentarily into Montreal some years ago.

More about Master Kapp later. He is a big James Sandy. Also wish him luck for he runs hard as well as in a hurry and is just a bit too willing to try to smash over tacklers as soon as dodge them. It is a long, weather-beaten season out here and the wing lines in the plains are packed with rusty Charlies.

As for the match, it was a good one. Wide open, early season stuff that brought about a number of mistakes but with that stamp of racing, pick-up rugby for which this game has long been noted. The scoreboard runs with fewer time stops and it always seems that the exchanges do likewise.

The start was typical. Calgary kicked off on a somewhat greasy field, on a nice clean night, and the widespread Mewata Stadium filled by some 17,000 fans. Old reliable Porky Brown, Luzz who plays middle wing a lot like Argonaut Fouts, and Opie Bandy, an Oklahoma husky, stopped two plays.

Vancouver, with a yard or so to go, kicked. Calgary lined up on their 28-yard line. Kapp, while being rushed fiercely, wound up and let one fly for 50 yards to a long-legged Canadian named Tait, who took it on a "simultaneous" catch with Nagle on Lions' 25.

Lunsford, who runs some like Alex Webster, went for three or four. The sturdy, quick-breaking Filipski took a forward pass on the roll-out to the 14. Lions showed their defensive muscles. Roamin' Ted Tully (still a good one) piled up Kapp twice for five (one of them a mixed-up signal perhaps) and Doug Brown, the Victoria sailor, booted a field goal.

Kapp who was Brown's fight opponent in the fracas in Montreal, holds for him on these occasions. Brown is so good at placements too that you would have to figure he spent the first of his last five years in the Navy on a very narrow ship.

Speaking of placements, that is where your old Argo favorite Kristopaitis is proving a real bargain for Vancouver shoppers Cappelz and Robinson. Fleming of Iowa fled around the Calgary end over mid-field. Vancouver, working from a wide line and practically a two-man backfield back of Randy Duncan with the other two rearguards flanking, had Vici and Britton to thump to the Cowboys' 40.

A skid on the still-greasy field and a pass knocked down, and up steps Valiant Victor as though still at Varsity Stadium in Toronto. He tied the score with a boot from about the 48. The fifth of the short season for this large Lithuanian who probably failed to correct us scribes who referred to him all last year in Toronto as a Greek because there are not nearly as many Lithuanian restaurants back in Hogtown.

It is too soon in the season for play-by-play stuff here.

Enough to remark that a couple of fine B.C. marches ended in fumbled forward passes. Fleming, who ran beautifully in the second half, had bad hands and a couple of intercepts resulted.

It may be that Duncan throws a hard ball. Otherwise he looked like an effective quarterback of the Tipuoka type—not much run but cool and adroit. Kapp is so far a Western Faloney on one of Bernie's galloping days.

The Stampede drives, as a result, were a somewhat sensational mixture of crashing runs by Filipski and Lunsford, exciting excursions by Kapp himself, mixed up with running passes and a couple of swiftly delivered "dumpers" of which McKenna is an apt receiver. The score mounted to 29-3.

The Vancouver rally gave Fleming a chance to redeem himself with his great speed. Also gave Otis Douglas a chance to see some defensive flaws in his squad.

Two rather well-balanced teams, we would say, with a number of cracking good individual performers. The customers of Calgary and the coast will get their money's worth of action. Injuries could ruin the bright chances. Injuries will be more damaging to these clubs than, say, Winnipeg or Hamilton.

Anyway this operator had a most entertaining evening.

watching Kapp and the Cowboys operate. We are not saying that he will be as effective, as Faloney, Etchevery, Ploen, Van Pelt or Parker or Knox but they have company. The big guy punts well, too. But the rest remains to be seen tonight at Winnipeg where the Bombers take on the Eskimos.

Spencerhouse, Friday 'Why' Main Item On Agenda At Chest Rally

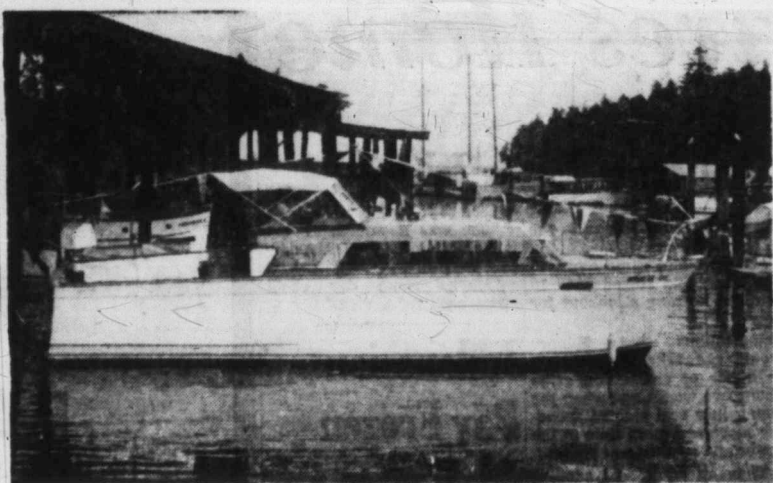

"Why" will be the main item on the agenda of a mass meeting of Community Chest agency representatives to be held in Spencerhouse Friday. "Why" the agencies need money, and "why" the public should support them.

"You can't go around knocking on doors, asking people for money," a Chest spokesman said. "You have to show them where their dollars are going and also give them a bit of a show."

Agency representatives will work with the publicity committee to develop ways and means of getting their messages across to the public. The Community Chest campaign will begin Sept. 25 with speeches at the Inner Harbor, the judging of the Miss Red Feather contest, and a torchlight parade across the Strait of Juan de Fuca on water skis.

Agencies which make up the 1959 Community Chest organization in Greater Victoria are: The Family and Children's Service, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, YMCA, YWCA, Boy Scouts, Community Welfare Council, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Christmas Bureau, St. Joseph's Hospital women's auxiliary, St. John Ambulance Society, SPCA, Muscular Dystrophy, Silver Threads Service, Columbia Coast Mission, Citizens' Recreation Rooms, Canadian Welfare Council, B.C. Borstal, John Howard Society, Victorian Order of Nurses, Sunshine Camp and Mental Health Services.

'Bigger, Better, Brighter' Luxton Fair Catchwords

Bigger, better and brighter than ever are the three catchwords of Luxton's fall fair committee, fair manager Stan Hiscock said last night. The fair opens at 2 p.m. Friday. "Entries for the fair are a new record at 1,500 and they are still coming in," he said. "And the Saturday parade looks like being the biggest in history."

Highlights of Friday's program will be the full midway, a horseshoe tournament, a baby show, the queen crowning ceremony at 7 p.m., a 4-H club demonstration and a demonstration of square dancing.

The big parade will leave Luxton school Saturday at 1 p.m. and will arrive at the fairgrounds about 1.30, when M.L.A. Herbert Bruch will officially open the fair—the 96th Luxton fair.

Winning floats will be announced and winners of children's fancy dress parade and the parade of decorated bicycles will be picked. A demonstration of folk dancing will be followed by the Colwood Trail Riders' gymkhana at 3 p.m. and trophies will be presented at 4 p.m. The annual tug-of-war will be held at 4.30 p.m., followed by square dancing and a dance in the Luxton Hall.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

Sound as British Columbia itself!

Parity bonds unconditionally guaranteed by the entire resources of the province and redeemable any time at full purchase price

For the first time, the people of British Columbia are invited to participate in, and profit financially from, the development of one of our Province's greatest enterprises. The offering of this bond issue, exclusively in B.C., means also that interest which normally would be paid to people outside the Province will be paid directly to British Columbians.

The PGE is now one of the world's most modern railroads and a vital factor in British Columbia's growth. The three year, 5% bonds of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway that are now being offered are the soundest bond buy on the market—an excellent way to let your savings earn more for you.

DENOMINATIONS: $100, $500, $1,000.

INTEREST: Interest at the rate of 5% per annum will be paid quarterly on the 15th day of December, March, June and September during the currency of the bond.

Flipper Leaves Home

Call of Ocean Lures Pet Seal from James Island

The call of the sea has proved too strong for Flipper, the pet seal of James Island. She has been missing from her foster home at the north end of the island for more than a week and the baby seal's benefactors, the Joseph Askeys and their three sons, believe she has gone for good. Said Mrs. Askey, "I'd just be tickled if she would come back—life isn't quite the same without her."

per stayed with the Askeys after having become stranded on the beach in front of their home, the young seal produced more excitement than the explosives-producing community has seen in years. She appeared before numerous TV cameras. She got an offer from Barnum & Bailey Circus. She posed for amateur movie fans and for professional photographers.

To James Island she brought the greatest armada in its history—dozens of pleasure boats ranging from 10-foot skiffs to a 65-foot yacht owned by a Texas oil baron. "We're not the only ones who miss her," said Mrs. Askey. "Lots of the island residents have been watching for her in the evenings to see if she will come home."

"One woman came down to the beach and stayed until 10 at night keeping a lookout for her."

Indonesian Pay Frozen By Decree

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Finance Minister Djuanda Wednesday froze the salaries of all government employees receiving more than 2,000 rupiahs ($175) a month.

Private enterprises were ordered to follow a similar course.

Personnel receiving up to 2,000 rupiahs will be paid in full while those receiving above this figure in effect are subject to a 50-per-cent cut.

Djuanda warned that 500 and 1,000-rupiah notes still are legal tender at their reduced 10-per-cent value, and that refusal to accept the new value is subject to severe punishment. President Sukarno ordered the high denominational notes devalued Monday.

Partisan Politics Out Say B.C. Civil Servants

The B.C. Government Employees' Association will engage in no partisan political action either directly or indirectly and is not tied to any political party, a spokesman for the 11,255-member organization of civil servants said yesterday.

It is forbidden to do so by its constitution and it is not planned to change that part of the constitution this year, the spokesman said.

"It may never be changed," he added.

"Even some of our own members feel that our affiliation with organized labor ties us to one political party," he said.

He pointed out that at the present time the Canadian Labor Congress has no formal connections with any political party and "even if the CLC were to take part in the formation of a political party, we would still not be involved. We are an autonomous body, bound by our own constitution, which takes precedence."

He added that the CLC believes that government employees' organizations should be neutral in politics.

Immediate Action

'Servants' to Buck Picketing Ban

The British Columbia Government Employees' Association plans immediate proceedings to have the anti-picketing injunction against the association removed.

The injunction was granted on an interim basis on March 13 and was later continued by Mr. Justice Ruttan of the Supreme Court. Since no further action was taken by the attorney-general, the association will now seek to have the injunction removed, a spokesman said.

ONLY LEGAL RESTRICTION

At the present time the injunction is the only legal restriction to picketing by the association. Bill 123, the amendment to the Constitution Act which will ban picketing by civil servants, comes into effect only when proclaimed by the lieutenant-governor in council (provincial cabinet), but to date no such proclamation has been made.

The association has ruled that no members will be suspended as a result of actions detrimental to the strike effort on March 13.

CRIPPLING SERVICE

These actions consisted mostly of failure to recognize the picket lines established at most points in the province and which for two hours succeeded in crippling government services.

Some of these failures, the BCGEA executive felt, were the result of ignorance of basic trade union principles and others may have resulted from insufficient or conflicting instructions and information. "The feeling was expressed by some executive members that since it was the first time any such situation has arisen in the province, it could be considered as an educational process, and on this occasion the association should adopt a magnanimous view of the whole matter," the spokesman said.

Meanwhile the big issue which brought about the strike on March 13—failure of the government to make known the Carrothers report on bargaining rights for civil servants—is still in the air with the report findings still not publicized.

Two in City Hospitals Because of Freak Falls

Two persons are in Victoria hospitals because of unusual falls yesterday.

Alexander E. Holmes, 67, of Dufour, who suffered a cut on the head in a 12-foot tumble into the water from Johnson Street bridge, was reported in satisfactory condition at Veterans' Hospital last night.

Police said that he was sitting on a cement footing at the bridge when he apparently fell backwards into the water about 11:30 a.m.

Six-year-old Susan Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, of 2341 Fernwood, injured her head in a fall from a hammock to the ground five feet below, about 10 a.m.

A spokesman at St. Joseph's Hospital last night said the girl was in satisfactory condition.

Worst Blow All Summer Says Warren

Seven TCA night flights to and from Patricia Bay airport will be cancelled out between Aug. 31 and Sept. 21, while repairs are carried out to the main runway.

Aircraft will be forced to use runway 31, which is shorter than the main runway and is not lighted for use after dark. No aircraft of any kind will be permitted to land or take off after 8 p.m. during the 22 days.

CUT PASSENGERS

Shortness of the alternate runway will force TCA to cut the number of passengers carried in each aircraft from 28 to 22. But the company plans to run two, or even three, sections on each of its regular daylight flights.

The decision to ban night-time use of the airport was made yesterday by department of transport officials.

"This is the worst blow we have suffered all season," Victoria tourist commissioner George I. Warren said late yesterday.

'THIS IS AWFUL'

"Tourist travel to Victoria is greatest during the Labor Day week."

"It seems ridiculous that this phase of the runway project can't be postponed a few days to allow normal service during that week."

It is understood that delaying the work would cost the department of transport $5,000 a day—$48,000 if it was held up until after the Labor Day weekend.

RAISED TWO FEET

The main runway will be strengthened and raised two feet in height by the work.

G. Conway Parrott, general manager of Vancouver Island Coach Lines, said last night one extra bus each way will be instituted for the period of the night-flying ban.

The extra bus services will leave Victoria and Vancouver at 11 p.m. The trip, by bus and ferry, takes about 4½ hours. For the period of the ban on night flying the bus company will be operating six services each way, each day.

Seen in Passing

Frank Cornall listening to details of a lighting problem. (A lighting consultant with a Victoria electrical firm for past two years, his home is at 1548 Morley. His wife's name is Florence and they have two sons, Ronald, an IBM engineer in Vancouver, and Brian, 20 at Victoria College. Hobby is gardening.) Toronto visitors Supreme Court Justice F. H. Barlow and Mrs. Barlow expressing amazement at getting the same Empress Hotel room on each of three visits in the past 40 years. Howard Burke back in town with a heavy 5 o'clock shadow. Dooley Harrison on a flying visit to Victoria. Barbara Courtney answering the telephone. Tim Neville of Nanaimo showing samples to a prospective customer.

Spokesman at Royal Jubilee Hospital later said she was in satisfactory condition. A neighbor, Jack Harper of 1800 Fairfield, said his wife heard somebody calling for help.

"I jumped over a fence and found her lying beside a flower bed in her front yard," he said.

He said an earlier statement that he would probably grant an extension of the original two-week mediation term was not intended as a comment on progress or lack of progress.

Screams Bring Help

Neighbors who heard an injured Victoria woman's screams for help last night, comforted her until an ambulance arrived to take her to hospital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hodacek, about 65, of 1792 Fairfield, apparently tumbled and broke her leg while she was watering her flower garden about 6:30 p.m., police said. She had been under doctor's care.

Wicks in Dark on Strike Bid; Mediator Disconnects Phone

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday he did not know whether a bid to settle the coast woodworkers' strike through talks conducted by his special mediator Dr. John Deutsch is making progress.

And Dr. Deutsch, a University of British Columbia economics professor, was not talking for the second straight day—he has had his telephone disconnected at his home at 5512 College Highway in Vancouver.

Mr. Wicks said he was aware that the special mediator had terminated his telephone service and declined to comment on the action.

He said: "Dr. Deutsch is handling the situation." The mediator is not reporting progress to the government, Mr. Wicks said.

Asked if he had yet granted an extension to the original 14-day term of the special mediator's attempt to get 27,000 woodworkers back on the job he replied "I haven't been asked for one."

He said an earlier statement that he would probably grant an extension of the original two-week mediation term was not intended as a comment on progress or lack of progress.

Granting an extension would be "almost automatic if Dr. Deutsch asks for one," he said.

He does not expect a request before the end of the week, he added.

Woodworkers originally demanded a 20 per cent increase on the basic $1.72 hourly wage but later scaled this down to 12 per cent—or about 20 cents an hour increase.

Spokesmen for 125 lumber firms have offered increases totalling 12 cents over 24 months.

Both union and company spokesmen have agreed not to issue any statements relative to the strike situation while Dr. Deutsch is working toward a possible solution to the deadlock.

Crash No Quake

A collision at the corner outside their Kings Road home, which sent one car crashing into the side of the house, startled the occupants yesterday into thinking there'd been an earthquake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Brown, 824 Kings Road, were having a quiet cup of tea with a guest, Mrs. Stewart Macro, 1615 Ruby, in the Brown's kitchen yesterday afternoon when they heard a crash, a splintering of wood, and the house was shaken.

"It's an earthquake!" Mrs. Macro said she exclaimed. "Let's get outside."

A few feet from the kitchen door the three found a car driven by Thomas George Hillier, Box 10, Victoria, with its nose against the building, right under the living-room bay window.

It had been in collision at the corner with a car driven by Ralph Alexander Green, 3030 Albany, and after the crash had swung across Blanshard, over the sidewalk and through a fence to strike the house.

The multiple crash caused extensive damage to the car, and pushed wall and window sill into the house, cracking into plaster.

No one was injured.

ROD BAYLES

Charlottes Shaken By Quakes

The sparsely-settled Queen Charlotte Islands, about 350 miles north of Victoria, rocked to three strong earthquakes early yesterday but no damage has been reported.

The shocks were recorded at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich at 12:32 a.m., 2:28 a.m. and 5:02 a.m.

Anne Lucas, assistant seismologist at the observatory, said last night the quakes were fairly strong and lasted a moderately long time.

The shocks were also recorded in Seattle, Wash., and Sitka, Alaska. The shock was so severe that it disrupted the seismograph in Sitka.

One of the quakes was recorded as a magnitude of 5.7 on a scale of 10 in the Saanich observatory. The disastrous Montana earthquake eight days before was recorded as 7.8 at the observatory.

Miss Lucas said there was no connection between the earthquakes which have recently struck the North American continent.

Fire Chief Quits At Langford In Policy Fight

Langford volunteer fire department original and chief, Rod Bayles resigned the post he has held for 14 years, during a meeting last night of the Langford Fire Protection District.

Trustee spokesman Dick Sewell said the longtime fire chief resigned because of a difference of opinion on "a matter of policy."

Nature of the dispute was not disclosed and Mr. Bayles was not available for comment, but Mr. Sewell said the fire chief told the group that he felt his "only way out was to resign."

He said that the trustees accepted the chief's resignation "with regret" and that they thanked him for his many years' service, but he did not think there was any likelihood it would be reconsidered.

Named acting chief following the resignation was deputy fire chief G. Ritchie Le Quesne, 2918 Leigh, Langford. Mr. Bayles, a former president of the Vancouver Island Fire Fighters Association and just elected vice-president of the B.C. Fire Chiefs Association, is given a major share of the credit with establishing and building up the Langford department.

The new chief, whose occupation is servicing electric business machines in the Victoria area, said last night he will take over only on a non-paid, volunteer basis.

Ex-chief Bayles was a full-time salaried employee. Mr. Le Quesne, who was deputy fire chief for the past 12 or 13 years, said he did not think the new post would interfere with his regular work. He said that clerk Roy Badley, who works at the fire hall during the daytime, takes care of bookwork and issuing fire permits.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Readers: Recently I was reminded of that childhood song — "Ten thousand Swedes" — came out of the weeds.

I feel as if I've been clobbered by at least that many, as a result of my remarks on the "Swedish system."

When a reader criticized my "antiquated sense of morals" and suggested we pattern our attitudes toward sex after Sweden's, I pointed out that the divorce rate in Sweden may be lower than ours, but the percentage of out-of-wedlock babies and suicides make up for it.

The wrath among my Swedish readers packed a wallop that might explain the mystery of Ingemar's right hand.

One of the less vitriolic readers gave an interesting explanation for the high suicide rate in Sweden. Here it is:

Dear Ann: The suicide rate in Sweden is high, but there's a reason. In Sweden suicide doesn't carry the stigma of cowardice as in America. Perhaps this can be traced back to the tenth century. It was a disgrace to go to Valhalla from a sickbed. The Vikings built Temple Gardens into which they jumped when they had no chance to die on the battlefield.

In Gastrikland, Sweden, there is still in existence such a garden. Every year a surprising number of people are lured to this ancient place. The hollow below is very deep so that a jump is truly effective — A LARSON.

Don't Lecture Me

Dear Ann: Please don't lecture me; just tell me what to do. For two years I went with what I thought was the most wonderful man in the world. We were planning to marry when his divorce came through.

We were very much in love when I became pregnant. Then his love turned to hate. Our daughter is now seven months old and he treats us like dirt. He says he'll support us so long as we stay with him but I don't think I can stand it much longer. He's a heavy drinker and he's mean when he drinks.

I'm a nurse and can get work any time, but I don't want to leave the baby in someone else's care. He calls me a scheming witch and says it's my fault that things are such a mess. I hate the sight of him, but I feel trapped. What is the sensible thing to do? — MURPH.

Dear Murph: Move out of that snake pit and go to work. Not only will it give you a fresh outlook but it will be better for the baby. It's no good for a child to be penned up night and day with a miserable, unhappy mother who hates the man she's living with.

In some states the father has financial responsibilities, whether he's married to the mother or not. Check with a lawyer, and get packing.

Confidential to NEED HIM: You need this old goat like Custer needed more Indians. Where's your mother anyway?

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What to Expect from Marriage," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Fish for Friday Easy to Prepare

By LOUISE MOORE

Fish for Friday—and what could be easier to fix and more delicious to eat than a tasty salmon bake. In color and looks, so pretty on the platter, especially if garnished with lemon slices and sprigs of crisp green celery.

As potatoes are incorporated in the salmon loaf we omit them in the menu, simply serving a dish of fresh green or frozen peas or maybe a dish of scalloped vegetables—succotash or scalloped tomatoes and corn make wonderful vegetable accompaniments.

Cole slaw with pineapple goes well with a salmon dish.

SUNSHINE SALMON BAKE
The cheaper grade of salmon will do for this recipe but I like the brighter color for the finished dish. It depends on your budget—either one provides the same nutrition.

Combine ½ cup liquid from 2 cans (7½ ounces each or a 1-pound can) of salmon with 1 cup cooked mashed or rice potatoes (no lumps, please). Add 3 beaten eggs and beat well to mix.

Flake the salmon and fold into the mixture. Add ½ cup finely minced parsley, ½ cup finely minced onion, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 tbsp. fresh lemon juice and a little of the grated rind if you wish. Blend ingredients lightly and pour into greased loaf pan (10x5x3 inches). Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 45 minutes or until firm when pressed with finger.

Serve with an egg sauce, or one of tomato if desired. Garnish with lemon slices.

Broughton-Rogers

Gay, Unique Gardens Scene of Reception

With the striking background of her parent's unusual home and gardens by the sea at 5187 Cordova Bay Road, recent bride Patricia Margaret Rogers, stood with her husband, Mr. James Fletcher Broughton, to receive wedding guests at a reception.

The charming couple were married by the Rev. Richard J. Welch in St. David's-by-the-Sea Church in an afternoon ceremony.

The fair-haired bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Rogers and the groom's parents, present from North Vancouver, are Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Broughton.

Pink and white set the theme in flowers and frocks as the church was set with baskets of garden flowers to harmonize with attendants' gowns.

Preceding the bride and her father up the aisle were Miss Janice Ward, maid of honor, Miss Linda Tucker and Miss Joy Anderton, bridesmaids, and flower girl Janice Kellington.

Their short-skirted dresses of Romance pink nylon, sheer over taffeta and brocade featured draped cowl necklines and they carried colonial bouquets of pink and white. The little flower girl was wearing pink organza with bonnet and a basket of matching flowers.

Mr. Fred Holt, of Vancouver, was best man and ushers included Mr. David Broughton, the groom's brother, and Mr. Irvine Rogers, the bride's brother.

At the garden party, the bride's uncle, Mr. Leonard J. Rogers, proposed the bridal toast.

For a trip through the Okanagan and the Interior, the new bride chose a rose and blue-toned sheath with rose wool duster, pink straw model's hat trimmed with feathers and pink and white rosebuds in her corsage.

Planning to live in North Vancouver, the couple will both resume teaching.

Harrison-White

St. Andrew's Cathedral was the scene of a nuptial mass recently as Monica Catherine White exchanged wedding vows and bands with Harold Thomas Harrison before the Rev. D. Johnston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Thomas White, Beechwood Avenue, and the late Mrs. White. The groom's mother is Mrs. Pearl Harrison, Gore Street.

Carrying red roses and white carnations, Miss White, given in marriage by her father, chose a formal gown of white taffeta with a high neckline enhanced with lace, and long sleeves. A pillbox hat held her finger-tip veil in place.

Maid-of-honor, Miss Lola Doran, and the Misses Judy and Arlene White wore cocktail-length frocks of turquoise and carried sprays of pink carnations centred with red rosebuds.

Best man was Mr. Frank Pylipos, and ushers Mr. Ron Chamberlain and Mr. Tom White, Jr.

The bride's godfather, Mr. James Grant, proposed a toast to her at a Holyrood House reception.

For a honeymoon in Portland and on the Mainland, the bride chose a royal blue suit with white accessories and corsage.

They will make their home at 1618 Richmond Avenue.

But Secret Was Kept

'I Still Shudder'

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Pierre Seigny says she still shudders when she thinks how she had to keep mum about her husband's recent appointment as associate defence minister of Canada.

She was with her husband when Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposed the cabinet appointment.

Mrs. Seigny said the prime minister cautioned them not to disclose the appointment. "Well, you can just imagine me!" she said. "How would I ever keep a secret like that?"

"For the rest of that day and the next morning, we talked to almost no one. "Thinking about it still makes me shudder."

PERSONAL MENTION

First of the informal functions to be held while the Royal Dragon class yacht, Bluebottle, is in Victoria will be a dinner party this Saturday in Holyrood House. Joining participants of the regatta will be guests-of-honor, the boat's crew, Surgeon-Lieutenant Russ Coles and Mr. Clive Smith. Also invited to attend are RVYC Commodore Walter Walsh and Mrs. Walsh, Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association Commodore Frank Piddington with Mrs. Piddington, Commodore of the Corinthian Yacht Club, Seattle, Mr. Sufin Vynn and Mrs. Vynn and RVYC Fleet Captain, Peter Young, with Mrs. Young.

RVYC is also planning a beach party to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 1, and a cocktail party Thursday, Sept. 3, at the club house followed by the regatta prize-givings.

There will be many private houseparties in connection with the visit of the famous sailing ship, owned by Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Empress Coffee Party

Mrs. F. H. Barlow, wife of Mr. Justice Barlow of the Supreme Court of Ontario, entertained wives of delegates to the current Conference of Commissioners on the Uniformity of Legislation in Canada, at a coffee party in the Empress Hotel yesterday. Mrs. E. C. Leslie, of Regina, wife of the president of the conference, and Mrs. Gilbert Kennedy, of Victoria, wife of the B.C. deputy attorney-general, poured coffee for the 25 guests. Guest-of-honor was Mrs. Robert Bonner, wife of the attorney-general of B.C.

Home from Britain

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mawer have returned to their home on Clifton Terrace after an extended trip to the British Isles, and also a cruise in the RMS Andes to the northern capitals of Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Finland and Holland.

California Wedding

A former Victoria girl, now living in Long Beach, Calif., became the bride of Mr. Warren Dale Coats of that city in a recent candlelight ceremony at the Chapel of Wedding Bells. She is the former Irene Dorothy Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Matthews. Present for the ceremony from Victoria was Mr. J. B. Clark, the bride's grandfather.

Guests from Welland

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McCaw, of Welland, Ont., accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. William Mosley, of Toronto, have spent the past two weeks as guests at the Cadboro Bay Motel. While in the city, they visited Mrs. R. D. McCaw at her Ormond Street home.

Maritime Trip Over

Mrs. Margaret Harvey has returned to her home on Sylvan Lake after attending meetings of Canada Council, of which she is a member, in Halifax, N.S., and Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Gifts in Sailing Ship

A blue and white sailing ship held the miscellaneous shower gifts of August bride-to-be Miss Betty Bratvold at a shower given for her at the Armine Place home of Mrs. K. Greenhalgh. Corsages were presented to Miss Bratvold, her mother, Mrs. K. Bratvold, and grandmother, Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick. Among the guests were Mrs. T. Perry, Mrs. N. Smith, Mrs. B. Haggis, Mrs. O. Holloway, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. A. Green, Mrs. M. Kirkpatrick, and the Misses A. Rempel, P. Jones, S. Allen, H. Dearie and R. Greenhalgh. From Duncan were Mrs. Bratvold, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. W. Whan, Mrs. M. Kirkpatrick and W. Bradley. Hostesses for the party were Mrs. W. Greenhalgh and Miss K. Whan.

Moose Jaw Visitor

Mrs. A. Leal, Moose Jaw, has arrived in the city to spend two weeks with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Crawford, Foul Bay Road.

For Miss Lily Primrose

Bride-elect Miss Lily Primrose was guest-of-honor at a recent pantry shower given for her by Mrs. W. A. Millard at her Glenairlie Drive home. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Enid Faulkes and guests were co-workers of Miss Primrose at the Department of Mines. Corsages were presented to the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. M. Primrose. On the guest list were Mrs. W. Mathewson, Mrs. Y. Raper, Mrs. R. Moir, Mrs. V. Merriman, Mrs. D. Rawlinson, Mrs. D. Buckett, Mrs. J. Savage, Mrs. B. Daner and the Misses Pat Hetherington, Doris Burton, Ann Bloomfield, Marion Day, Laura Phillips and Joan Gower.

Holland-Bound Today

Leaving for a six-month visit to her native Holland today, is Mrs. Oscar Spanier, 69 San Jose, with her children, Marianne and Robert. They sail from Montreal on Sept. 1 aboard Ss.

She Has a Full Life

Blind Knitting Champion Guides Blind Husband

By CAREL KENDALL

A blind woman, whose husband is also blind, is one of the finest knitters in Canada.

She is Mrs. Janet Carr, of 2703 Avebury Avenue.

She has, again this year, won a Canadian National Exhibition knitting competition and her work will be displayed in Toronto on Aug. 26.

This is her 10th consecutive CNE win each time with a pair of socks.

RETINA FAILURE

In 1950 she and her husband arrived in Victoria from Winnipeg, less than a year later she suddenly lost her sight through retina failure.

That was not the end of the world for this cheerful lady, but the beginning of a new one. Since then she has learnt many things she did not know before.

First she studied reading with a method known as the Moon system, introduced by an Englishman of that name, for blind people whose fingers are not sensitive enough to read braille. Later she learned the more complicated braille.

MRS. JANET CARR

She also learned to type and now occasionally writes articles for braille magazines. With braille cards she plays cribbage, and leatherwork has become another new hobby.

Mrs. Carr had knitted earlier in her life but found her talent improved after becoming blind, and now much of her time is spent keeping her relations supplied with socks and children's clothes.

Something else that improved was her memory. Fortunately Mrs. Carr can still visualize Victoria, remembering its many beauties.

Neighbors help her with shopping and gardening but she looks after her own spotless house, and loves to cook, trying new recipes from the monthly braille courier issued by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Speaking of the CNIB here, she says that it does a wonderful job, sending teachers out to start their members on new crafts, and helping financially with the materials.

Every November the CNIB hold a tea and sale for which Mrs. Carr dresses dolls and knits children's clothing and more socks.

PERMANENT CRIPPLE

In 1954 Mrs. Carr, already blind, was in a motor accident, ironically on the way to the Institute. She recovered fully from her injuries but her husband lost his sight and became a permanent cripple cared for by his wife.

Watching Mrs. Carr guide her husband, Mr. David Carr, from the house by telling him how many steps to take, gave the phrase "the blind leading the blind" a new meaning.

Airliner Delivery Room

Twins Born on High

GANDER, Nfld. (UPI) — Two medical missionaries and a stewardess delivered what may be the first twins ever born in flight yesterday to a U.S. airman's 18-year-old British wife who was hurrying to the U.S. expecting to have only one child.

Dr Ing said that before they boarded the plane he saw the pregnant girl and said: "My, you look like you're going to have your baby soon."

Ing's diagnosis was correct 11 hours later despite the fact that Mrs. Stivers carried certificates of three doctors saying she was in fit condition to make the flight.

The forward passenger compartment of a Pan-American World Airways DC6B was turned into a delivery room when Mrs. Judy Ann Stivers went into labor.

After the plane took off from London, word swept through the plane that one of the 14 passengers was in labor. Dr. Clarence Ing and his wife, Dr. Isabel Ing, were asked to help.

'Revolting to Palate'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Cyril Hamwee, an Englishman who has settled in Manitoba, says "English cookery lost its battle without ever fighting for it."

GRADE I

For Pre-School pupils including a foreign language.
HALF-A-DAY
EV 2-3668

The Baldur, Man., physician was critical of English cuisine in comments he made recently to a joint meeting of the chambers of commerce of Boissevain, Man., and Dunseith, N.D.

"If you are ever tempted to go to England on a holiday," he told the members, "I had better describe to you the typical English luncheon."

"If you are given a salad, you will be perfectly justified in losing your temper, because the English have not yet learned that tomatoes and beets can't be kept for four days in a lettuce salad."

Dr. Hamwee said the English luncheon is a "cut from the joint with two vegetables."

"One of the vegetables is sodden cabbage, wretchedly boiled in water. It is malodorous in the cooking, disgusting to the eye, revolting to the palate, and a burden upon all the digestive activities of the human body."

The typical English luncheon is undoubtedly "the basis of something or other—whether it be of the British Empire or of British indigestion."

With minor alterations, breakfast and dinner are the same as luncheon, Dr. Hamwee said, except that they are eaten at different times.

English culinary defects are masked with bottled sauces "splattered indiscriminately in soup, on fish, over poultry, and even on salads," he added.

Fresh, Crisp, Summery

Fresh salad greens, hard-boiled eggs and golden slices of cheese combine with strips of well-chilled canned luncheon meat to make this crisp, cold summertime salad.

Find It Cool?—Time to Can

This current cool spell may mean disaster for holidays but it's ideal pickling and canning weather.

You can appreciate a fire on as you can in comfort for a change.

Late spring apple blossoms and no bees have resulted in a down-from-average local apple crop this year. Okanagan crops are late but will begin soon. The bright red and famous Macintosh variety will be here about the third week in September.

Big seller to be featured in nearly every store this week-end are peaches, at a reasonable price of about $2.39 a crate.

This is the first weekend for Okanagan Bartlett pears. There are excellent local around, as well. Remember to ripen them first before eating. The price is about 19 cents a pound to start.

There are loads of very nice local blackberries for pie or preserving.

Fresh from the field to you is succulent corn, a good local crop this year and in good supply. Prices will vary in all stores but average price is about six ears for 49 cents.

There will be very few good local field tomatoes at first as the lateness of spring planting and poor weather has played havoc with this popular crop.

Island potato growers are to be commended on the excellent crop they've produced this summer considering the bouts they had last year with that pest, the flea beetle.

Spuds this year are high class, a good size, smooth, and with a flavor that's hard to beat. When good grading is combined with good quality, you can count on the finest results.

Thought for Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chinese proverb say: For happy marriage, keep mouth shut and let husband be boss.

Originator of that "proverb" is not Confucius but a beautiful Eurasian woman, Han Suyin, author of two best sellers, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" and "The Mountain Is Young."

Her formula for a happy marriage is: "Patience, keeping your mouth shut when you want to flare up, and a sense of humor."

It Is Not Too Soon

to start thinking about the fall school term and your children's eyes. Probably the greatest single cause of indifferent school work is faulty vision. Now is the time to have an eye examination and if glasses are required, bring the prescription to one of our offices. You will be glad you did.

MAJ. F. D. NELSON
... up from sergeant

Guardians Of Harbor Meet Here

Former members of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, mobilized on Aug. 26, 1939, 16 days before Canada declared war on Germany, gathered at the Bay Street Armory last night for an anniversary meeting.

First gathering of the group, the affair may become an annual event, members said.

About 100 veterans attended the reunion marking the 20th anniversary of the outfit which preceded the present day artillery, the 5th (B.C.) Independent Battery.

Seven of the brigade's original complement are members of the 5th (B.C.) Independent Battery, including the battery's commanding officer, Major F. D. Nelson, who was a sergeant in 1939.

The brigade's first commanding officer, Lt. Col. Vincent McKenna, now a patient at Veterans' Hospital, was unable to attend last night's gathering.

The brigade's primary duty was manning guns covering the water approaches to Victoria Harbor.

It consisted of the 55th, 56th and 60th batteries, the 2nd anti-aircraft battery and the 17th searchlight battery. Communications for the units were provided by the independent 11th fortress signal company.

Family Listed 'Dead'

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP)—A Red Cross official said Wednesday it appears that three Canadians can be presumed dead in the Montana earthquake.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Sydney D. Ballard and their son Christopher of Nelson, B.C.

There are nine known victims of the quake and one other person—Mrs. Thomas Stowe of Sandy, Utah—is presumed dead.

The addition of the Ballards would raise the known probable death toll of the Aug. 17 quake to 13.

The statement that the Ballards can be presumed dead came from Joseph Hladcek of San Francisco after he had talked with Ballard's mother, who went to Red Cross headquarters at Bozeman, Mont., to check Hladcek is in charge of compiling the list of missing.

Hladcek quoted the mother as saying there is no doubt in her mind but that the Ballards were killed.

PGE Names Ex-CPR Executive

Former CPR vice-president on the Pacific Coast, William Manson has been named a director of the B.C. government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Mr. Manson was a railroad man for 48 years and a senior executive with the CPR system until his retirement in 1957.

He fills the vacancy on the board created by the recent death of former E. & N. Railway manager J. A. Kennedy.

Other members of the PGE board are Premier Bennett, president; Einar M. Gunderson, vice-president; Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Bernard Allen.

Premier Bennett said the appointment of Mr. Manson means the PGE will now enjoy the benefits of the experience of senior executives from both of Canada's transcontinental railways. Mr. Allen was general manager of the CNR's B.C. division before joining the PGE.

Rules Leave Planes in Peril

OTTAWA (CP)—The present conflict between Canadian and United States air traffic regulations is ripe for mid-air collisions, says a Toronto pilot.

Captain F. M. Bock, a former pilot for KLM (Royal Dutch Airlines) and pilot for Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited, says a pilot crossing the international border now must put away one set of flying rules and take up another.

"Confusing and conflicting regulations are a serious problem to air safety," he says in an article in Canadian Flight,

In one of his several examples of conflicting flight rules, Captain Bock notes the differences in Canada and U.S. regulations governing the setting of a plane's altimeter.

In Canada, Captain Bock notes, the altimeter is set at or below 23,000 feet. In the U.S. it is set at 23,500 feet—a difference of 500 feet.

In the U.S., two planes flying below 29,000 feet along the same path, but in opposite directions, must be separated vertically by 1,000 feet. Above 29,000 feet, the separation is 2,000 feet—double the distance as a safety margin because of altimeter inaccuracy caused by rarefied air.

The same law applies in Canada, except that here the dividing line is 23,000 feet by regulation, and 25,000 feet in practice when the buffer zone is taken into account.

Garden Notes

Little People Migrating Here?

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

If you remember, I told you last year about the unfortunate accident to my bed of Glitters petunias.

I was looking over the bed and picking off the faded flowers one evening when I noticed the leaves of some of the plants curling slightly downward at the edges. This is usually a symptom of an aphid attack and under a leaf, sure enough, there was a horrid, crawling mass of plant lice.

Aphids must be dealt with promptly, for they breed like rabbits and in no time at all can infest the whole garden, so I made a dash for the garage, grabbed the sprayer and a little of what I thought was bug-killer and went to work. As I was finishing up the bed and giving the dahlias a squirt for good measure, I realized suddenly that the spray didn't smell right. Checking up on the bottle, I found I had given the flowers a strong and very thorough spraying with weed-killer!

I tried to wash the stuff off with the hose, but it was too late, and those were the sickest looking petunias you ever saw. I took a terrible ribbing from all my friends over the stupid mistake and my neighbor Ernie still needles me about my ham-handed gardening. I'm feeling a little better about it today, though, as I've just had word from Ireland that the same accident has occurred to Sam McGredy.

Sam is the 27-year-old head of McGredy & Son, one of the great rose nurseries of the world, at Portadown, near Belfast. While he looks more like a football quarterback, with 225 pounds of solid muscle and crew-cut red hair, he is actually something of a genius as a breeder of fine roses and his McGredy's Ivory and the lovely copper-colored Mrs. Sam McGredy are both well known in Victoria gardens.

In addition to his 600-acre rose nursery at Portadown, McGredy maintains a two-acre rose garden for display purposes in Belfast and there the accident took place. A weedkiller was used inadvertently instead of an insecticide and something like 4,000 top-quality roses went phut, including his newest creation, the scarlet and gold Piccadilly.

"I was just having a lunch-time stroll around the roses," says Sam, "and where the blooms should have been, there were only two or three curled-up petals. Instead of fat leaves, little things like green knitting needles were sticking out. Thank goodness it was the gardens and not the main nursery—I couldn't bear to think of that."

The gardener responsible for the spraying, a shy little fellow by the name of Hughie Gallagher, insists that the bottles were switched by little people!

The disaster in my own garden taught me a thing or two about the action of 2-4-D weedkiller. While I couldn't save the Glitters petunias—they faded out of the picture too quickly for any treatment—I managed to salvage the dahlias by careful nursing and the tubers are blooming quite normally this year.

The hormone weedkiller causes plants and broad-leaved weeds to grow themselves to death and I figured that, if I could only supply my dahlias with nutrients in an easily assimilated form, they could perhaps keep up with their abnormal growth. With this in mind, I sprayed them daily with soluble fertilizer in water, using a fertilizer fortified with all the minor elements and minerals as well as the usual plant foods.

I had some mighty queer looking dahlias there for a while, but gradually they outgrew their trouble and recovered their health.

For Listeners

Culture Makes Good

"I was working in a retail store in Lincoln, Nebraska, and at night I'd preside over a program which broadcast an hour of classical music over a local station. Soon, however, I was doing fourteen hours a week of classical music fully sponsored. It got to interfere with my work in the store so I set up a remote unit in my home and broadcast from there. Occasionally, we'd have a guest like Igor Gorin or that shoemaker from Italy who won the $64,000 Question."

"That was the beginning of it. There was so much interest shown in classical music I got to thinking about establishing my own station. Every body said I was crazy. But I did it. Today, after only a year and a half, much to my surprise, KFMQ has double the annual dollar volume of the average station in the country and now there are seven applications for stations in Nebraska."

I like this story not because it's a success story for Herbert Burton, the quiet, sincere guy who tells it, but because it is a success story for the public which is supposed to have such terrible taste. KFMQ's schedule is loaded with such programs as the Concerto Hour, the Symphony Hour, the Classical Hours (8 to 11 every night), the Jazz Hours (no rock 'n' roll), the Edinburgh Festival, the Israeli Philharmonic, the London Forum and other BBC programs, and like that all day long.

"A lot of people warned me that the population of Lincoln, Nebraska, was not as cultured or sophisticated as New York's and they warned me against starting a station like this. Yet I have found there is a great reception for our station. Young people will never know what is culturally good unless someone makes it available to them."

Far from scaring the listeners away, quality has been KFMQ's greatest asset.

"We don't ignore political or social problems in Lincoln. We offer the city council as much time as they want. When Starkweather (the celebrated killer) was caught, we had a panel of ministers and psychiatrists to debate whether there should be capital punishment. When they were building the missile base at Omaha, we aired the pros and cons of that."

KFMQ is doing fine with its advertisers too. "We've proved that you can get a healthy response from above-average income groups. It's my feeling that people who have above-average income have above-average educations and want our sort of programming. No jingles are allowed in our station. The only time we related was to a bank. It brought in a jingle and we had it rearranged for the string quartet. Singing commercials can be in good taste if someone will take the trouble to do it."

"We never accept any commercial unless it's honest. One dollar tie can't be sold for 75 cents. People with intelligence won't accept such malarky. After a year and a half, 85 per cent of our original sponsors are still with us. To me that means that if you give people what they want—they'll buy it."

Casting Problem

Tough Guys Scarce in Hollywood

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Rum runners in the thrill-packed days of prohibition rigged up many a fascinating device to trick the "revenuers," and producer Lindsey Parsons is reproducing them in bringing "The Purple Gang" to the screen.

This is the story—almost unbelievable to a new generation—of a Detroit-spawned group of infamous characters that smuggled liquor and beer across the river from Canada to Michigan, often to the tune of shrieking sirens, flying bullets, and an occasional falling body.

So far, Barry Sullivan, long since chosen as the hero, is the only top figure signed for the cast. Parsons, like most moviemakers now reverting to gangland themes, complains that tough-egg types are so scarce nowadays along film row that imports must be obtained from the East.

"The Purple Gang" reveals several unique methods resorted to by the gang in transporting "hot" cargoes—both above and beneath the river's surface. First order to the prop department was for 500 burlap bags, to be used in wrapping the cases of bottled beer which were towed silently in the dead of night under water by innocent appearing motor craft or scows to isolated points on the bank. From there they were trucked to the gang's warehouses.

Opening lead: ♠ 4

After South's overall, North was determined to try for game with his powerhouse. He jumped in diamonds to make sure South would not drop the bidding and after South rebid spades, he bid game.

Little did West dream that his yarrowhough would be instrumental in defeating the contract. Most players would resign themselves to merely following suit with such a collection of garbage.

South ducked the opening club lead and East shifted to a low trump—probably the best defence. Declarer won, cashed the club ace, and ruffed a club. The ace and king of diamonds were followed by a low diamond. East played the queen, but West ruffed his partner's trick. He realized that it was imperative to attack hearts before the defence's trumps were exhausted, and that East would be unable to do so profitably. South was forced to finesse the heart queen—and down went McGinty, losing one trick in each suit. Without the perfect defence put up by East-West, the contract surely would have been made.

First English Girl Invited

Janitor's Daughter Joins Bolshoi Ballet

LONDON (Reuters)—The 14-year-old daughter of a janitor and his wife, who saved for seven years for her training, Wednesday sailed for Russia to study with the Bolshoi Ballet.

Young Ann Stone is the first English girl and one of the few foreigners ever to be invited to train with the Bolshoi. She was spotted by the Bolshoi dancers at her suburban London ballet school in 1956.

Most of her clothes were gifts from friends and people who heard of her success. For seven years, the Stones sacrificed everything—including vacations, for Ann to take lessons. Her mother went to work in a shirt factory.

Polio-Fearing Red Troupe Soothed by Ambassador

TORONTO (CP)—The Russian festival dancers held an emergency meeting here Tuesday night after their performance in Maple Leaf Gardens and decided they don't like the idea of going to Montreal because of the polio outbreak there.

Amassap Arounian, Soviet ambassador to Canada, was called to dispel the troupe's fears.

No final decision was reached, but an official said later: "It is almost certain the tour will continue."

The ambassador told the 200 singers, dancers and musicians of the Russian festival of music and dance: "You must

CBC Critics Proposal Attacked

TORONTO (CP)—Professional samplers of public opinion showed no enthusiasm yesterday for Kate Aitken's plan to recruit 2,000 amateur critics from across Canada for their views on CBC radio and television programs.

Miss Aitken, a member of the CBC board of directors, said Tuesday the programs would be expanded, shortened or dropped on the basis of the response from the "representative" group.

Bryne Hope Saunders of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion commented that "getting 2,000 people to reply is not a proper sample."

"The kind of people who would volunteer to do that might not be typical of Canadians as a whole," she said.

Charles C. Hoffman of the Bureau of Broadcast Measurement, criticized what he called, "the bias created" in selecting amateur critics.

Knock Stops Broadcasts

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Department of transport investigators have been scurrying about the city for several days in an attempt to locate a "phantom" radio station that has built up a sizable teenage audience here.

"Oh, oh, there's a knock on the door," the announcer said Tuesday after interrupting a musical program. "I'll be back later."

There hasn't been a sound from the station since.

LONDON (AP)—The Queen yesterday approved awards to 31 British troops who fought a secret war in the Arabian Desert.

Test-Ban Parley Adjourns

GENEVA (Reuters)—The three-power conference seeking a nuclear test ban adjourned Wednesday for six weeks.

British sources said that if President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev in their talks next month can reach an understanding on such problems as the number of inspections to be carried out by each side, "the conference will go forward in October with more vigor and certainty."

The United States, Russia and Britain began the conference last Oct. 31. It will resume Oct. 12.

Is It Loa-Loa or Not? Takes Months to Tell

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Armand Frappier, head of the microbiology department at the University of Montreal, said yesterday that the mystery disease found in Farnham, Que., is still puzzling scientists. "It will take months before we get near the truth," he said.

"Mention of loa-loa as the disease did not come from us. Some people seemed to have jumped the gun."

Loa-loa is a disease common to Asia.

Hospital treatment was never considered for the few people suspected of having loa-loa.

Just this,

hard-cooked eggs, and you create...

DEVILLED PREM

Spicy and satisfying! Devil 3 eggs in your usual way. Then just open one can of Prem, slice loaf into six slices, place in a shallow baking dish. Top each slice with a devilled egg. Pour barbecue sauce over all and bake in a moderate oven (375) for 20 to 30 minutes. Makes six tempting servings.

Just a Dash Means Death to All

Botulism Dwarfs H-Bomb

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sir Robert Watson-Watt said yesterday eight ounces of "botulism organism"—the agent responsible for food poisoning—could kill off every human being on our planet.

Sir Robert, the British scientist who helped develop radar, Tuesday told an international group of scientists meeting in Pugwash, N.S., that such a substance existed, but he did not identify it at that time.

In a telephone interview with a Winnipeg paper yesterday he said a minute speck of the substance can cause death. The amount in a single oyster can be fatal.

However, Sir Robert said, it would be impossible to wipe out the entire human race with food poisoning.

"Thank God appropriate distribution is impossible," he said. "But great damage could be done nevertheless."

"And this is only one item in the biochemist's chamber of horrors. This is the most lethal substance per unit of weight. Nothing I have heard of is so toxic but there are lots of runners-up which could be used."

Theme of the Pugwash conference being held at the summer home of Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist, is chemical and bacteriological warfare.

Baggataway, a form of lacrosse, was played by Indian teams of from 75 to 200 men long before white man arrived in Canada.

Queen Enthusiastic Over Canada Visit

TORONTO (UPI)—Britain's defence staff chief Admiral Earl Mountbatten officially opened the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday.

Mountbatten, who also opened the event in 1948, said the visit of Queen Elizabeth

Nip Desirable Puff Taboo Out in Space

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A British space scientist says it might be desirable to let space pioneers indulge in a nip or two as long as they don't overdo it.

But excessive smoking probably will be taboo for space travellers, according to Royal Air Force Wing Commander John I. R. Bowring, who heads a space research project for the air force at Wright-Patterson air base in Ohio.

"It might be desirable to let the spaceman have a martini a day on his off hours," Bowring said.

'Wonderful Summer' for Margie

Now Keep Them Practising

Classes Are Over—1,221 Learned to Swim

By MARGIE NAYSMITH
(Colonist Swim Instructor)

Yesterday we held our last lesson in The Colonist's free swim class series until next summer rolls around, and we are proud to report the presence of 1,221 new swimmers in local waters.

Of a total enrollment of 1,261 youngsters in the eight-to-14 age group in Victoria and Duncan, only 40 were unable to secure one of the two classes of swimming certificates which we issue.

No less than 560 of our youngsters received the top certificate for being able to swim 40 feet free-style and 40 feet backstroke. Another 661 got certificates attesting to their ability to swim 25 feet free-style.

Of the 40 who took home attendance certificates for having learned only the breathing and stroking motions without being able to sustain themselves on the surface, I am sure all will qualify if they come back next year.

Believe it or not, I have had a wonderful summer.

I am not at all relieved that the classes are over and I know my assistants (they have done a wonderful job this year) feel the same way.

Working with children, especially in anything so important to their survival as swimming, brings to the individual far more than he or she can give.

We have all had a truly happy summer and a satisfying one—satisfying because we know that through the sponsorship of The Colonist we have done something important—something that will live for a long time in the day-to-day, year-to-year lives of the boys and girls we have been dealing with.

At the risk of seeming repetitious, I want to ask the parents of this year's crop of swimmers to please see that the youngsters get lots of opportunities to practise swimming in the months ahead. Much of the ability which my assistants and I have been able to impart to the kids will vanish if it is allowed to simply lie fallow until next summer rolls around.

In closing my series of columns for the year I want to thank some of the people and organizations who helped make the classes operate smoothly—my instructors for their unselfish contribution of time and experience—Vancouver Island Coach Lines for their co-operation in transporting the youngsters to Elk Lake and for the courtesy of their drivers—officials of Queen Margaret's School at Duncan for the use of the swimming pool—the B.C. Electric for lending us the logs for our safety boom at Elk Lake.

Toll May Hit 40 In Mexican Quake

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A rumbling earthquake rocked parts of Mexico Wednesday, causing widespread damage and casualties in the Gulf Coast area of the tropical Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Estimates of deaths range from seven to 40, with the number of injured around 100.

NO CRASH INCREASE AT 60 SPECIAL B.C. REPORT SHOWS

Boost in Speed Only 2.4 Miles

There is no indication of greater accident incidence in 60-mile-an-hour zones and the increase in speed of the average driver is small. (See also Page 9.)

The Daily Colonist learned last night that this is the summation of a report by a special committee on 60 miles an hour speed zones which will be presented to Highway Minister Phil Gagliardi when he returns to Victoria Tuesday.

The report shows that in 60 miles an hour zones 9.3 per cent of drivers drive at 60 miles an hour or more and that in 50 zones some 42 per cent of the drivers drive at 50 miles an hour or more.

The report promises continued study to the location of all fatal accidents in B.C. and says a preliminary report indicates the increase in fatal accidents has occurred in all types of speed zones.

"Increased gasoline consumption (plus a greater number of cars of low fuel consumption) indicates more vehicle miles travelled and a greater exposure to accident," the report states.

The report, which is based on concealed radar recordings at the first three test sections established as 60 zones in B.C., shows "the average increase in speed of the faster 50 per cent of drivers was 2.4 miles an hour when the speed limit was raised from 50 miles an hour to 60 miles an hour."

Accident rate in the three zones was down to 20, from 23, over the same three months in 1958, but there was one fatality where there were no fatalities on those sections last year during April, May and June which was the test period for last year and this year.

Public Outcry Heard

Members of the special 60 zone committee met Tuesday following a public outcry against the new 60 zones, which critics say are responsible for the mounting death rate on B.C. highways which is now soaring to a new record with 196 recorded so far this year—36 above the same period last year.

Committee members are RCMP Assistant Commissioner Lemieux, RCMP Superintendent Carl Ledoux, Harry Duker of the B.C. Automobile Association, senior B.C. traffic engineer J. H. Harding and deputy-highways minister H. T. Mlard.

The three test sections included the Canadian Highway between Parksville and Little Qualicum Falls Park; the Trans-Canada Highway in the Sumas Flats section; and the Trans-Canada Highway, Cache Creek to west of Kamloops.

Special statistics were recorded in these sections during April, May and June of 1958 when they were still 50 miles an hour zones.

Speed limits were increased to 60 miles an hour on April 1 of this year and concealed, recording-type radar machines were placed at the areas.

The partial test—there are a score more 60 zones now in operation on B.C. highways—showed:

1. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 42 per cent of drivers drove at speeds of 50 miles an hour and more.

2. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 53 per cent of drivers drove at 50 miles an hour and more.

3. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average, eight per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.

4. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 9.3 per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.

"Tests to date therefore indicate only a slight increase in speed by the average driver," the report reads.

In 1958 on the Parksville to Little Qualicum Falls Park section there were four accidents while the 50 zone was in effect in April, May and June, but during 1959 in the same months and while the section was a 60 zone there were only two accidents, both property damage. In 1958 three of the accidents involved only

Elaborate Sign System Warns Driver of Lethal Malahat Curve

Elaborate warning system to cut deaths on Malahat Highway's Tunnel Hill starts with this new sign erected by Highways Department crew yesterday on approach to turn where a Victoria woman was killed, Sunday. Sign terminates a 60-mile zone.

This sign, which has been a Malahat fixture for some months, will stay up as secondary warning to southbound motorists approaching the fatal left curve in an area where three traffic fatalities have taken place in the same area this year.

Third warning of approaching left hand curve is this rarely-used luminous broad-arrow located at point where turn commences. Multi-sign warning installation is in area not under study in current probes into 60-zone effects.

Assuming you have missed first three warnings there may still be time to press the "panic button" and avoid collision with rock outcropping ahead when these three luminous "delineator posts" start to flash by. — (Colonist photos.)

U.S. Accuses Communists Of Abetting Force in Laos

India-China Pact 'Dead and Buried'

NEW DELHI (AP)—A leading Indian newspaper chain said Wednesday that Communist China has declared a cold war against India which is forcing this country to forget about non-alignment.

The Indian Express, published in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras, said China's policies since the Tibetan revolt last March have frightened her neighbors and alienated her friends.

The result, the Indian Express said is an "agonizing reappraisal" which is bringing Indian foreign policy more closely in line with that of the Western nations.

The article said the Indian Communist Chinese treaty of co-existence of 1954 is "dead—buried five fathoms deep."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Wednesday met Laos' urgent appeal for more aid and accused the Communist world of abetting the use of force against the tiny south east Asian kingdom. The exact amount of new aid was not disclosed.

The state department also announced that a session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization will be held here in late September.

While the Laos crisis may be discussed at this session, press officer Lincoln White said that as far as he knew the questions of sending of troops by the United States or SEATO to Laos has not arisen.

Mainland Price War In Gasoline

VANCOUVER (CP)—President J. O. Betts of the Automotive Retailers' Association says oil companies plan a gasoline price war on the Lower Mainland. Some dealers are already selling regular gasoline for as low as 35.9 cents a gallon.

MONTREAL (CP)—City health officials took action Wednesday to ration supplies of anti-polio vaccine as the number of polio cases rose to 500.

Bluebottle Led Start to Finish

The royal Dragon-class racing yacht Bluebottle, owned by the Queen and Prince Philip, last night won its first race in Vancouver Island waters.

Here for a series of seven races with Pacific coast Dragons, she sailed in 30-mile-an-hour winds frequently gusting to 40, over a 10-mile-course from Cadboro Bay to Jimmy Chicken Island and back.

Hundreds of spectators watched as Bluebottle established an early lead and never lost it.

On the first lap of the course, the royal yacht broke a jib sheet block and lost a few lengths while carrying out repairs, but she was never seriously challenged.

Skipped by Surgeon-Lieut. Ross Coles, Bluebottle's crew consisted of Victorians Roy

Murdock and Lyle Russell. Mr. Russell put his knee out of joint early in the second lap, but managed to perform his duties throughout the remainder of the race.

Bluebottle will be on public view today in the Inner Harbor, and will return to Cadboro Bay Friday night for races Saturday and Sunday.

Speed Boost Backed

Victoria Automobile Club yesterday went on record as approving 60 miles-an-hour speed limits on some British Columbia highways.

The move came as a controversy raged over whether or not the recent increase in speed limits from the former mark of 50 miles an hour is responsible for a sudden increase in the mortality rate in automobile accidents in the province.

But the automobile club has not extended unqualified approval of the actual application of the new maximum speed.

In a letter to Highways Minister Gagliardi yesterday the club's president, R. B. Wilson, said "We believe there are many stretches of straight and not dangerous roads on which a 60-mile limit could justifiably be established, although there might possibly be some sections where the 60-mile signs are now placed which might be modified."

An automobile club official said the reference to modification of certain existing 60 zones probably applies to the Malahat.

To the highways minister, Mr. Wilson added: "We do feel that you are right in your efforts to provide zones which will please the general motoring public."

Speed Limit Boost Seen In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government may raise speed limits this fall to 55 and 60 miles an hour on a number of the province's two-lane highways, it was reported yesterday.

The highways department has recommended the increase in the speed limit by five or 10 miles an hour following an intensive survey conducted during the last seven months on 6,000 miles of two-lane highways.

The report has already been forwarded to the transport department which will submit it to the cabinet for approval by order-in-council.

property damage and the other also involved an injury. In the Sumas area there were eight accidents in 1958, four involving injuries and four involving property damage. This year in the same area there were nine accidents, one of them a fatality, four involving injuries and four involving only property damage. In the Kamloops section in 1958 there were 11 accidents, five involving injuries and six involving only property damage. This year there were nine accidents, three involving injuries and six only property damage.

The summary shows for the three months in 1958 some 23 accidents, 10 of them involving injuries and 13 only property damage and for this year 20 accidents with seven involving injuries, one a fatality and 12 only property damage.

"With the information received to date, there is definitely no trend to an increase in accidents in the test zones," the report reads.

But it states that "study will be given to the location of all fatal accidents in British Columbia. A preliminary study of the reports of (RCMP) detachments where increases occurred this year indicates the increase in fatal accidents occurred in all types of speed zones."

There are now 22 maximum 60-miles-an-hour speed zones in B.C. On Vancouver Island they are located roughly as follows: Island Highway, from north of Goldstream to Mill Bay, from Mill Bay to Duncan, from Duncan to Ladysmith, from Ladysmith to Nanaimo, from Nanaimo to Parksville, from Parksville about 31 miles toward Alberni, from north of Parksville to Qualicum Beach; and on Patricia Bay Highway from Keating Crossroad to Sidney.

'Worst Sidewalk' Being Replaced

Legionnaires from all parts of Vancouver Island and the Mainland will gather in Nanaimo on Sept. 19 to honor W. A. McAdam, former B.C. agent-general in the United Kingdom.

The Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, following a recommendation at the recent B.C. Legion convention in Prince George, will confer an honorary life membership on the man who for so many years was "Mr. B.C." in London. Mr. and Mrs. McAdam now live in retirement at Maple Bay.

Busloads of veterans will make the trip to Nanaimo from Victoria.

Fish Union Probe Off Says Wicks

Chance of a government probe of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union faded yesterday when unrest within the union was termed "sort of a witch hunt" by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

"The government doesn't go for that," said the minister. His statement followed one by the spokesman for a fishermen's committee at Kyququot, Vancouver Island, which said Mr. Wicks had promised an inquiry into the union's administration.

The fishermen's committee charges that the union is communist dominated and is not run "in the best interests of labor or of Canada."

In a telephone interview from Vancouver last night the minister said he probably told the Kyququot people in a routine way that his department would look into the matter.

"That's standard procedure," he said. Asked if he planned an investigation he said "not at the moment."

A curtain of dense fog which shrouded Mt. McCreight 20 miles northwest of Campbell River yesterday repelled an RCAF ground party trying to find the wreckage of a mystery plane sighted several days ago by an air force corporal.

An RCAF spokesman in Vancouver said last night the ground party, which returned to Comox air base late yesterday, was scheduled to start a second attempt to locate the wreckage at 4:30 a.m. today.

COPTER JOINS IN

Two hours later, at first light, a Royal Canadian Navy helicopter was to take off from the Comox airport in a simultaneous bid to locate the wreck.

The RCAF official said the ground party was forced back from the mountain after a day and a night in the rugged terrain by fog "so thick the men could hardly see each other."

He said "with the fog the way it was the searchers could have walked right by the crash and never seen it."

"They turned back because the poor visibility might have resulted in a bad fall," he added.

Earlier yesterday the RCAF said it appeared likely the crashed plane was a United States Navy anti-submarine bomber which vanished nine years ago and which was finally located with 11 skeletons on board a year later in the area now being searched.

The remains were removed, but the wreckage of the plane was left on the scene.

But the search will continue because a similar type of aircraft disappeared in the same general vicinity 11 years ago with nine persons on board. This plane has never been found.

PLAN FOILED
Fog which turned back the ground party yesterday also ended efforts to take two men to the scene and lower them from the navy helicopter.

The air force said earlier reports that 11 skeletons had been seen at the wreckage were incorrect and resulted from garbled transmission of a radio message from the ground party seeking information about the 1951 crash in which 11 were killed.

An officer at air-sea rescue centre in Vancouver said "it looks now as though the wreckage is that of a U.S. Navy Neptune that crashed in 1951."

New Elk Lake Float Presented by Rotarians

Sidney Rotary Club last night presented a new diving and swimming float at Hamsterley Park, Elk Lake, to Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks committee in a follow-up to Colonist swim classes.

Committee chairman Millard Mooney accepted the float from Sidney Rotary president Walter Hughes. Councillor Ainslie Worthington represented Saanich.

Chairman of the project Victor Dawson said last night the float took Rotary volunteers a month to build working two nights each week.

He said that one of the reasons for building the float was that the Colonist swim classes were held at Hamsterley Park and the Rotarians thought the children would keep swimming there after classes finished.

The float has a three-foot diving board and is designed for younger children.

Errington Woman Coombs Fair Winner

COOMBS—Mrs. L. R. Williamson of Errington scored 103 points to win the top award at the Fall Fair here. She won 24 first, nine second and two third prizes with exhibits in many classes.

Other trophy winners are: Mrs. P. Beuselink, the J. M. Innes challenge trophy silver flower bowl, for most points in floral section; Jack Tranfield, A. J. Mason challenge cup, for best potatoes; Mrs. T. Lewis, Whitfield Memorial cup, for most points scored in domestic science; Mrs. L. R. Williamson, Island Farms shield, for best dairy cow in show; Jimmy Mant, Arrowsmith Agricultural Association cup, for most points in stock section; Danny Hersley, A.A.A. cup, for most points in Boys' and Girls' Garden Club. This was the third year in succession Danny had won this, so he retains the cup.

He also won the M. Van Horne cup, for most points scored in junior section of garden club; Edward Raper, Victoria, A. J. Mason Memorial challenge trophy, for field produce; Henry Mani, Sam Gough tractor trophy, for tractor driving contest; Anne Neden, best calf in show; Addie Hoyland, trophy for most points in junior classes.

Allan Littler, district horticulturist, remarked on the excellent quality of the exhibits entered by members of the boys' and girls' garden club; an increase from 28 entries last year to a record 128 this year.

The children's pet parade first prize went to Johnny Chaffin for his kitten; followed by Valerie Unrau, Pomeranian puppy; Dale Fabrick, German Shepherd dog; Edward Grasser, a frog named Peter.

Tractor-driving contest was won by Harry Mant over 10 competitors. Runner-up was Stan Stokes. Mrs. J. Tinkham won the ladies' nail-driving contest with Mrs. Elsie Mallet as runner-up. Horseshoe pitching team Herbert Couvier and W. Leary took first place over V. G. Peterson and G. Sutcliffe.

Strike Damage Not Yet Serious Duncan Job Bureau Says

DUNCAN—The International Woodworkers of America strike "has not affected too seriously the district's economy as yet," says the National Employment Service monthly bulletin issued here yesterday. It further states "it is expected that the situation will quickly deteriorate if a settlement is not reached soon." During the month applications for benefits increased from 647 to 825. An NES survey of businesses "shows August is regarded as a usually dull period, with this year no exception."

A few new commercial buildings and private homes are being built but "construction is slowly coming to a halt as available supplies of lumber become exhausted."

Partisan Politics Out Say B.C. Civil Servants

The B.C. Government Employees' Association will engage in no partisan political action either directly or indirectly and is not tied to any political party, a spokesman for the 11,253-member organization of civil servants said yesterday.

It is forbidden to do so by its constitution and it is not planned to change that part of the constitution this year, the spokesman said.

"It may never be changed," he added.

"Even some of our own members feel that our affiliation with organized labor ties us to one political party," he said.

He pointed out that at the present time the Canadian Labor Congress has no formal connections with any political party and "even if the CLC were to take part in the formation of a political party, we would still not be involved."

We are an autonomous body, bound by our own constitution, which takes precedence."

He added that the CLC believes that government employees' organizations should be neutral in politics.

Immediate Action

'Servants' to Buck Picketing Ban

The British Columbia Government Employees' Association plans immediate proceedings to have the anti-picketing injunction against the association removed.

The injunction was granted on an interim basis on March 13 and was later continued by Mr. Justice Ruttan of the Supreme Court. Since no further action was taken by the attorney-general, the association will now seek to have the injunction removed, a spokesman said.

ONLY LEGAL RESTRICTION

At the present time the injunction is the only legal restriction to picketing by the association. Bill 123, the amendment to the Constitution Act which will ban picketing by civil servants, comes into effect only when proclaimed by the lieutenant-governor in council (provincial cabinet), but to date no such proclamation has been made.

The association has ruled that no members will be suspended as a result of actions detrimental to the strike effort on March 13.

CRIPPLING SERVICE

These actions consisted mostly of failure to recognize the picket lines established at most points in the province and which for two hours succeeded in crippling government services.

Some of these failures, the BCGEA executive felt, were the result of ignorance of basic trade union principles and others may have resulted from insufficient or conflicting instructions and information.

"The feeling was expressed by some executive members that since it was the first time any such situation has arisen in the province, it could be considered as an educational process, and on this occasion the association should adopt a magnanimous view of the whole matter," the spokesman said.

Meanwhile the big issue which brought about the strike on March 13—failure of the government to make known the Carrothers report on bargaining rights for civil servants—is still in the air with the report findings still not publicized.

Worst Blow All Summer Says Warren

Seven TCA night flights to and from Patricia Bay airport will be cancelled out between Aug. 31 and Sept. 21, while repairs are carried out to the main runway.

Aircraft will be forced to use runway 31, which is shorter than the main runway and is not lighted for use after dark. No aircraft of any kind will be permitted to land or take off after 8 p.m. during the 22 days.

CUT PASSENGERS

Shortness of the alternate runway will force TCA to cut the number of passengers carried in each aircraft from 28 to 22. But the company plans to run two, or even three, sections on each of its regular daylight flights.

The decision to ban nighttime use of the airport was made yesterday by department of transport officials.

"This is the worst blow we have suffered all season," Victoria tourist commissioner George I. Warren said late yesterday.

"Tourist travel to Victoria is greatest during the Labor Day week."

"It seems ridiculous that this phase of the runway project can't be postponed a few days to allow normal service during that week."

It is understood that delaying the work would cost the department of transport $5,000 a day—$48,000 if it was held up until after the Labor Day weekend.

RAISED TWO FEET

The main runway will be strengthened and raised two feet in height by the work.

G. Conway Parrott, general manager of Vancouver Island Coach Lines, said last night one extra bus each way will be instituted for the period of the night-flying ban.

The extra bus services will leave Victoria and Vancouver at 11 p.m. The trip, by bus and ferry, takes about 4½ hours. For the period of the ban on night flying the bus company will be operating six services each way, each day.

NANAIMO—A small Seattle freighter that stopped here after a fire broke out in the Strait of Georgia is under tow to Ketchikan, Alaska, today.

The Delphin, with four members of a crew and a woman, aboard, limped into here after its crew put out the fire.

A tug was sent from Seattle to tow the disabled vessel home but Capt. Claude Kuzh ordered it to tow the ship to Ketchikan after repairs were made on a generator and a cargo of meat was put back into refrigeration.

Woodworkers originally demanded a 20 per cent increase on the basic $1.72 hourly wage but later scaled this down to 12 per cent—or about 20 cents an hour increase.

Spokesmen for 125 lumber firms have offered increases totalling 12 cents over 24 months.

Both union and company spokesmen have agreed not to issue any statements relative to the strike situation while Dr. Deutsch is working toward a possible solution to the deadlock.

Neighbors who heard an injured Victoria woman's screams for help last night, comforted her until an ambulance arrived to take her to hospital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hodacek, about 65, of 1792 Fairfield, apparently tumbled and broke her leg while she was watering her flower garden about 6:30 p.m., police said.

A spokesman at Royal Jubilee Hospital later said she was in satisfactory condition.

A neighbor, Jack Harper of 1800 Fairfield, said his wife heard somebody calling for help.

Firemen Shaken Up in Crash

Deputy fire chief Joseph Beales and passenger, department secretary William Smith suffered a shaking up when the deputy chief was driving on false alarm inhalator run collided with truck driven by Kenneth M. Beattie, 1236 Oscar, also slightly hurt. Fire department car had siren on and red flasher light. Accident occurred at Cook and Pandora early yesterday.—(William Boucher photo.)

Ladysmith Theatre Sold

Will Be Converted Into Furniture Store

LADYSMITH—Harold Cross & Sons recently purchased the Odeon Theatre at Ladysmith, which had stood unused for some months. The firm has engaged workmen who are now converting the theatre into a furniture and appliance store.

Mr. Cross said yesterday the move from the store now occupied on First Avenue will be made Sept. 12.

A grand opening sale and door prizes will introduce the new store to the public.

The Odeon, formerly the Riato, was built by James Haworth, Ladysmith theatre owner, now retired.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Victoria should realize its "bigger future" lies in development of the northern section of Vancouver Island, Comox MLA Dan Campbell said here last night.

"We sympathize with Victoria," he said. "The $150,000 mentioned by Mayor Scutrah to maintain the CPR direct service to the mainland is probably a small sum but in the north Island it represents a significant amount of money."

"We sometimes wonder up here if many people in Victoria have caught a glimpse of a bigger future that is in store for them."

"When the provincial ferry links are in, and the road up thence to Port Hardy and thence to Kitimat, Victoria will really come into its own."

"We say join hands with the north—the north Island and northern B.C.—and you will not have to worry about winter boat service—it will be there."

DUNCAN—Donald McLachlan, 76, who has "hardly missed a convention" since he joined the Jehovah's Witnesses in 1912, will be one of 75 from here attending the three-day awake ministers' district assembly at New Westminster next month.

Michael Sidoroff, head of the Watchtower convention here, said more than 1,000 from the Island will attend the meet from Sept. 3 to 6.

LADYSMITH—A 42-pound, four-ounce spring salmon, largest caught at Cowichan Bay for the past five years, was presented to Ladysmith General Hospital as a gift by Frank W. Nosky, here. He caught it on his own lure, a special of his own make which features a clear plastic head to hold herring strip.

He is trying to market the new lure. Tuesday morning Village Commissioner L. T. Ryan, out fishing with Mr. Nosky, using the lure caught a 15-pound spring.

'Wonderful Summer' for Margie

By MARGIE NAYSMITH
(Colonist Swim Instructor)

Yesterday we held our last lesson in The Colonist's free swim class series until next summer rolls around, and we are proud to report the presence of 1,221 new swimmers in local waters.

Of a total enrollment of 1,261 youngsters in the eight-to-14 age group in Victoria and Duncan, only 40 were unable to secure one of the two classes of swimming certificates which we issue.

No less than 560 of our youngsters received the top certificate for being able to swim 40 feet free-style and 40 feet backstroke. Another 661 got certificates attesting to their ability to swim 25 feet free-style.

Of the 40 who took home attendance certificates for having learned only the breathing and stroking motions without being able to sustain themselves on the surface, I am sure all will qualify if they come back next year.

Believe it or not, I have had a wonderful summer.

I am not at all relieved that the classes are over and I know my assistants (they have done a wonderful job this year) feel the same way. Working with children, especially in anything so important to their survival as swimming, brings to the individual far more than he or she can give.

We have all had a truly happy summer and a satisfying one—satisfying because we know that through the sponsorship of The Colonist we have done something important—something that will live for a long time in the day-to-day, year-to-year lives of the boys and girls we have been dealing with.

At the risk of seeming repetitious, I want to ask the parents of this year's crop of swimmers to please see that the youngsters get lots of opportunities to practise swimming in the months ahead. Much of the ability which my assistants and I have been able to impart to the kids will vanish if it is allowed to simply lie fallow until next summer rolls around.

In closing my series of columns for the year I want to thank some of the people and organizations who helped make the classes operate smoothly—my instructors for their unselfish contribution of time and experience—Vancouver Island Coach Lines for their co-operation in transporting the youngsters to Elk Lake and for the courtesy of their drivers—officials of Queen Margaret's School at Duncan for the use of the swimming pool—the B.C. Electric for lending us the logs for our safety boom at Elk Lake.

Probe into Road Deaths Show:

NO CRASH INCREASE AT 60

Speed Boost Just 2.4 Miles

There is no indication of greater accident incidence in 60-mile-an-hour zones and the increase in speed of the average driver is small.

(See also Page 9.)

The Daily Colonist learned last night that this is the summation of a report by a special committee on 60 miles an hour speed zones which will be presented to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi when he returns to Victoria Tuesday.

The report shows that in 60 miles an hour zones 9.3 per cent of drivers drive at 60 miles an hour or more and that in 50 zones some 42 per cent of the drivers drive at 50 miles an hour or more.

The report promises continued study to the location of all fatal accidents in B.C. and says a preliminary report indicates the increase in fatal accidents has occurred in all types of speed zones.

Increased gasoline consumption (plus a greater number of cars of low fuel consumption) indicates more vehicle miles travelled and a greater exposure to accident," the report states.

The report, which is based on concealed radar recordings at the first three test sections established as 60 zones in B.C. shows "the average increase in speed of the faster 30 per cent of drivers was 2.4 miles an hour when the speed limit was raised from 50 miles an hour to 60 miles an hour."

Accident rate in the three zones was down to 20, from 23, over the same three months in 1958, but there was one fatality where there were no fatalities on those sections last year during April, May and June which was the test period for last year and this year.

Public Outcry Heard

Members of the special 60 zone committee met Tuesday following a public outcry against the new 60 zones, which critics say are responsible for the mounting death rate on B.C. highways which is now soaring to a new record with 196 recorded so far this year—36 above the same period last year.

Committee members are RCMP Assistant Commissioner Lemieux, RCMP Superintendent Carl Ledoux, Harry Duke of the B.C. Automobile Association, senior B.C. traffic engineer J. H. Harding and deputy highways minister H. T. Miard.

The three test sections included the Canadian Highway between Parksville and Little Qualicum Falls Park; the Trans-Canada Highway in the Sumas Flats section; and the Trans-Canada Highway, Cache Creek to west of Kamloops.

Special statistics were recorded in these sections during April, May and June of 1958 when they were still 50 miles an hour zones.

Speed limits were increased to 60 miles an hour on April 1 of this year and concealed, recording-type radar machines were placed at the areas.

The partial test—there are a score more 60 zones now in operation on B.C. highways—showed:

1. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 42 per cent of drivers drove at speeds of 50 miles an hour and more.

2. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 33 per cent of drivers drove at 50 miles an hour and more.

3. With a 50 miles an hour speed limit, on the average, eight per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.

4. With a 60 miles an hour speed limit, on the average 9.3 per cent of drivers drove at 60 miles an hour or more.

"Tests to date therefore indicate only a slight increase in speed by the average driver," the report reads.

In 1958 on the Parksville to Little Qualicum Falls Park section there were four accidents while the 50 zone was in effect in April, May and June, but during 1959 in the same months and while the section was a 60 zone there were only two accidents, both property damage. In 1958 three of the accidents involved only

Elaborate Sign System Warns Driver of Lethal Malahat Curve

Elaborate warning system to cut deaths on Malahat Highway's Tunnel Hill starts with this new sign erected by Highways Department crew yesterday on approach to turn where a Victoria woman was killed, Sunday. Sign terminates a 60-mile zone.

This sign, which has been a Malahat fixture for some months, will stay up as secondary warning to southbound motorists approaching the fatal left curve in an area where three traffic fatalities have taken place in the same area this year.

Third warning of approaching left hand curve is this rarely-used luminous broad-arrow located at point where turn commences. Multi-sign warning installation is in area not under study in current probes into 60-zone effects.

Assuming you have missed first three warnings there may still be time to press the "panic button" and avoid collision with rock outcropping ahead when these three luminous "delineator posts" start to flash by. — (Colonist photos.)

U.S. Accuses Communists Of Abetting Force in Laos

India-China Pact 'Dead and Buried'

NEW DELHI (AP) — A leading Indian newspaper said Wednesday that Communist China has declared a cold war against India which is forcing this country to forget about non-alignment.

The Indian Express, published in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras, said China's policies since the Tibetan revolt last March have frightened her neighbors and alienated her friends.

The result, the Indian Express said is an "agonizing reappraisal" which is bringing Indian foreign policy more closely in line with that of the Western nations.

The article said the Indian Communist Chinese treaty of co-existence of 1954 is "dead—buried five fathoms deep."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Wednesday met Laos' urgent appeal for more aid and accused the Communist world of abetting the use of force against the tiny southeast Asian kingdom. The exact amount of new aid was not disclosed.

The state department also announced that a session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization will be held here in late September.

While the Laos crisis may be discussed at this session, press officer Lincoln White said that as far as he knew the question of sending of troops by the United States or SEATO to Laos has not arisen.

Mainland Price War In Gasoline

VANCOUVER (CP)—President J. O. Betts of the Automotive Retailers' Association says oil companies plan a gasoline price war on the Lower Mainland. Some dealers are already selling regular gasoline for as low as 35.9 cents a gallon.

Polio Serum Rationed

MONTREAL (CP)—City health officials took action Wednesday to ration supplies of anti-polio vaccine as the number of polio cases rose to 300.

Bluebottle Led Start to Finish

The royal Dragon-class racing yacht Bluebottle, owned by the Queen and Prince Philip, last night won its first race in Vancouver Island waters.

Here for a series of seven races with Pacific Coast Dragons, she sailed in 30-mile-an-hour winds frequently gusting to 40, over a 10-mile course from Cadboro Bay to Jimmy Chicken Island and back.

Hundreds of spectators watched as Bluebottle established an early lead and never lost it.

On the first lap of the course, the royal yacht broke a jib sheet block and lost a few lengths while carrying out repairs, but she was never seriously challenged.

Skipped by Surgeon-Lieut. Ross Coles, Bluebottle's crew consisted of Victorians Roy

Murdoch and Lyle Russell. Mr. Russell put his knee out of joint early in the second lap, but managed to perform his duties throughout the remainder of the race.

Bluebottle will be on public view today in the Inner Harbor, and will return to Cadboro Bay Friday night for races Saturday and Sunday.

U.S. Extends A-Test Ban
